ACCUSED WIFE SLAYER DIES IN CELL

Week-End Crime Wave Hits City

Officers Shoot At 2 Youths

Pair Held In Burglary

Another wave of robberies, burglaries, and purse snatchings, the second in a week, kept Mansfield police busy over the week end.

Police reported an attack and robbery, three attempted burglaries, one burglary, and a purse snatching.

Two 16-year-old Mansfield youths, one with a delinquency record dating back to 1943, were captured by police early Sunday arter officers witnessed the boys' attempt to break into the Hart Dairy store, 509 Springmill street.

Attempting to flee from police, the boys halted when Capt. C. W. Kyler fired a shot between the running youths on Cedar street. Both were held by police today for questioning in connection with several other recent burglaries in the Springmill street neighborhood.

Hearing before Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer had not been set at noon. The one youth is on a suspended sentence from Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster. Both are reportedly habitual truants from school.

Police said goods taken in a burglary at the John Hall distributing company, 52 West Surry road, just prior to the attempt at the dairy store, were found in possession of the boys. A portion of the loot included 47 three-cent stamps, $2 in change and Christmas club bankbooks.

LOOT FOUND

Police apprehended the youths on a "tip" from a Springmill street resident, who said a man was picking the lock at the American News agency, 550 Springmill street, with the aid of a flashlight. Capt. Kyler and Patrolmen William D. Mitchell and John P. Butler were dispatched to the scene. Finding no one in the vicinity, police parked near the agency.

Officers said two boys came out of an alley and approached the Hart store, trying the front door. Followed by police in the cruiser, the youths ran to the back of the store, where they were pursued on foot by police. After a 10-minute chase through Bell and Cedar streets the youths were halted.

Attempted burglaries of both the American News agency and the Hart dairy store were reported to police last week. Officers said pry marks were found on the front doors at both establishments.

Juvenile court records showed today the one youth came to the attention of juvenile authorities when he stole $25 from a filling station cash register at the age of 11 years. The same year he was sent to a protectorate school in Philadelphia.

In 1945 he was brought in on a car theft and given 90 days' probation. In 1947 he was listed as an habitual truant from school and last summer was found guilty of taking a $35 bike and given a suspended sentence in BIS on condition of good behavior.

Carl Walter, of 323 Prospect street, reported to police at 2:20 a. m. Sunday that he was strangled and knocked out by a man who attacked him at Orchard and Lily streets. Walter said he found his billfold and $65 missing when he regained consciousness.

At 2:30 p. m. Sunday, A. J. Duffy, manager of a pool room at 219 Harker street, told police he found pry marks on the door. He said he closed the pool room at 4:30 p. m. Saturday.

Held for investigation today was a Grace street man, suspected of entering the home of Mrs. Peggy Ranshaw, 303 Wayne street, last night and snatching a purse from a table. Mrs. Ranshaw said the purse contained $35 in change and bills.

'Coldest' Weather Moves In

The coldest weather of the season was riding into the Mansfield area today on high winds which whipped out of a severe midwestern storm.

Snow flurries and a low reading of 22 above were forecast for northern Ohio tomorrow. The mercury started skidding late last night after reaching a balmy 54 yesterday. A reading of 33 was recorded at 7:30 a. m. today.

Icy winds, snow and sleet were blamed for 14 deaths in the west and middlewest over the week end. Some of the fatalities resulted from auto, bus, and plane crashes.

Seven of the dead were killed in plane crashes.

The storm swept eastward from the Rockies, across the North Central states and into the Great Lakes region. Temperatures plummeted as the storm struck.

Sleet glazed highways with ice in many areas and numerous traffic accidents were reported. High winds snapped telephone lines and caused widespread property damage.

MOVES INTO CANADA

U. S. weather forecasters said the storm center was moving northeastward across Lake Superior. The storm swept down the eastern slopes of the Rockies Saturday, driving across Kansas and part of Missouri.

It was the third near blizzard for Kansas in two weeks. The high winds and driven snow shrieked across western Iowa and eastern Nebraska yesterday, then moved into the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

At Chicago, the temperature dropped 12 degrees in a single hour as gusts as high as 60 miles per hour lashed the Windy City's lake front. At Milwaukee, the wind reached 69 miles per hour. The temperature at Eau Claire, Wis., last night plunged from 40 degrees down to 20. Springfield, Ill., reported winds ranging up to 73 miles an hour.

Bus schedules in Minnesota were delayed by the storm, and the Northwestern Bell Telephone company at Minneapolis reported that it was setting up emergency communications as sleet and high winds tore down telephone lines.

At Muscatine, Ia., the wind tore down power lines and poles, plunging some sections of the city into darkness.

Wind, Rain Save Airport From 'Bombs'

Bad weather saved the Mansfield airport from being "bombed" yesterday.

As part of a recruiting drive, the 164th Fighter Squadron of the Air National Guard had scheduled a mock bombing attack on the airport with four B-26 medium bombers and 25 P-51 fighter planes from Columbus, Dayton and Mansfield.

Hundreds of persons jammed the airport yesterday afternoon, but the "raid" had to be called off because of high winds, a low ceiling and rain, Capt. William O. Ash, commander of the unit explained.

Planes from the 164th tried to take off to put on a show, but the weather forced them to call off the substitute show.

It wasn't a total loss as far as the recruiting campaign was concerned since five persons enlisted in the Guard yesterday, bringing the total strength to 308, 45 short of full strength, Capt. Ash said.

The commander of the squadron said another attempt will be made before the end of the year to put on the "mock" bombing raid to stimulate recruiting. The deadline to fill the quota by Jan. 1.

Quake Damage Proves Light

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Southern California's latest earthquake was just a matter of conversation today.

Palm Springs seemed to be the worst hit in the quake area. Two broken legs were reported there. Broken window panes, dishes, bottles formed the bulk of the wreckage. A 5,800-gallon water tank split open, and plaster cracked and fell from the walls in many buildings.

Two Japs Win Appeals

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Supreme court by a 5-4 vote today granted a hearing to two Japanese wartime officials convicted as war criminals and sentenced to be hanged. They were Gen Kenji Dohihara and Koki Hirota, former Japanese premier. The court's action was made known in an opinion by Justice Jackson. He said he had agreed with Justices Black, Douglas, Murphy and Rutledge that the two Japanese should have a high court hearing.

That meant a contrary view was held by Chief Justice Vinson and Justices Reed, Frankfurter, and Burton. No appeal was filed for ex-premier Tojo.

Strike Against Reds

Flares Spotted

Survivors Sighted In Pacific Crash

(Compiled From Wire Services)

The navy reported today that a navy PBY was circling over an unknown number of survivors of a C-54 transport forced down yesterday about 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii.

How many of the 37 men survived the crash will not be known until daybreak, the navy said.

The PBY was attracted by two flares, one late last night and a second early today.

The search plane radioed: "Sighted flares. Dropped boat. Boat landed about 100 yards from survivors. Don't know whether they saw it or not."

The rescue plane pilot's fuel was running low, and he started back toward his tiny island base as other planes were ordered to the scene. He did not report how many survivors he could see.

Air crashes on three continents over the week end claimed 30 lives.

In Shanghai, there was a death toll of ten in the crash of a Chinese Central Air Transport plane which burned at Kiangwan airport.

In Berlin, three American crew members perished when an airlift C-54 crashed just after a takeoff.

The crash of a plane into a mountain near Salinas, Calif., took a death toll of six persons. The occupants were navy personnel, but the navy said it was not a military aircraft.

Other United States fatalities in brief:

Three friends in a private plane which crashed in a heavily-wooded section of the Door county peninsula, Wisconsin, near Lake Michigan.

In addition, a man and two young women were reported missing in a plane which left Jamestown, N. Y., Saturday afternoon for Dayton, O., and later was unreported. Occupants of the plane were listed as W. J. Blanchard, general manager of the General Motors Aero Products division, Dayton, and two women employes. A wide search was conducted.

'Wallace Youth' Hit

Teachers Targets of Communists

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Teachers are regarded by the House Un-American Activities committee as "the easiest touch" for communists of all professional people.

Reds and fellow travelers, the committee says, have dug in as teachers in public, private and church schools to the point of being "a deadly danger."

The committee got out a pamphlet over the week-end on "100 things you should know about communism and education." It is another in the question and answer series on Reds in such fields as in religion, labor and government.

The pamphlet says that:

1. An estimated 800 American communists have been trained in the Lenin school in Moscow—the highest college of communism—in spying, bombmaking, kidnaping, train wrecking, mutiny, civil war, sabotage, infiltration and factory-wrecking.

2. "They serve as the high officers of a secret army now being drilled to overthrow our government." One committee member told a reporter there isn't any real "army," that that was just a descriptive way of putting it.

3. Communists run some schools of their own in this country. The committee lists 13 but it says only these four are open now: School of Jewish Studies and Jefferson School of Social Science, New York; California Labor School, San Francisco; and Seattle Pacific Northwest Labor school, Seattle.

4. Wallace youth groups are "tools of the communist party."

5 Communism gained recruits through Henry A. Wallace's campaign for president. It made new contacts and tapped fresh money. The "largest vote ever cast for communism" in America was registered when Wallace polled more than 1,000,000 votes Nov. 2.

Communists, the committee says, intend to wreck the American school system if they can; They want to train children rather than teach them—train them to "obey, to love, and to hate."

Spy Data Given To Jurors

Probe Resumes Tomorrow

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House Un-American Activities committee handed a grand jury today what it calls definite and shocking proof a Red spy network operated in the state department before the war.

At the request of the justice department, the committee sent one of its investigators, William A. Wheeler, to New York. His mission: To turn over copies of secret papers to a grand jury which has been investigating communists and espionage for nearly a year and a half.

These are papers which the committee says a member of the communist underground in the state department turned over to another member on the outside for relay to Russian agents.

The outside man was Whittaker Chambers, now a Time magazine editor who admits he was a courier for the communist underground in Washington before he broke with the reds in 1938.

The committee is hanging on to another set of copies of the documents, for use when it starts its own spy hearings going again tomorrow — but perhaps behind closed doors.

The prints were made from microfilms obtained by subpoena from Chambers last week. At the time, Chambers had them cached in a hollow pumpkin on his Maryland farm.

Chambers has said these particular documents never reached the Russians because he got them while he was in the process of splitting with the reds.

Robert E. Stripling, chief investigator for the house committee, has said the hearings starting tomorrow will establish who fed the papers to Chambers from the state department.

FLOWN BACK

The committee regards those hearings as so important that it enlisted the help of the coast guard and the navy to bring one of its members back from a ship at sea.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) was en route to Panama aboard the S. S. Panama. A coast guard plane flew from St. Petersburg, Fla., to a dramatic rendezvous at Aklins Island, south of Jamaica.

Nixon transferred to the plane, and it flew the 475 miles to Miami. There he boarded a navy transport for the hop to Washington.

Immediately after his arrival last night, Nixon went into a huddle with Stripling to go over the documents. His first reaction was that they are "so damnably important" it may not be possible to make them public.

Hits Bricker Nomination

CLEVELAND— (UP) —A former state representative today urged the special session of the state legislature to refuse to confirm U. S. Sen. John W. Bricker as a trustee of Ohio State University.

In a telegraphic protest, Harry J. Dworkin charged that "Senator Bricker's nomination to the board of trustees is viewed with alarm by many of the Ohio State Alumni."

"He has frequently made intemperate charges against university students and faculty without factual basis," Dworkin added. "His concept of higher education is narrow and partisan. His appointment would be decidedly detrimental to university progress. Urge you vote against confirmation."

Dworkin said he sent his telegram to state senators only after discussing the question with "a large number" of Ohio State Alumni in Cleveland.

ITALIAN PLANE CRASHES

MILAN, Italy—(AP)—A plane of the Italian airlines, en route to Brussels, crashed and burned at Forlania airport near here today just after taking off, killing the crew of four Italians and one German passenger.

Trappers Get Skinned This Season

COLUMBUS — (INS) — You wouldn't know it from the price of fur coats, but it hardly pays for a trapper to skin some animals these days.

The conservation division reported today that fur prices to the trapper are down this season. Even mink, which last year brought $22 a skin, is bringing the trapper only about $14.

Muskrat, around $2 last year, is down to $1.75. Fox, formerly a high-priced prize, is now worth only 50 cents — not enough to pay for skinning were it not for the bounty which some counties pay on fox to keep down the pests.

Reds' Foes Sweep Berlin Elections

Huge Turnout Slaps Soviets

BERLIN — (INS) — German Social Democrats, arch-foes of communism, walked away with the west Berlin elections today in the most decisive popular rebuke dealt Soviet policy in Europe since World War II.

A total of 1,367,972 Berliners —86.2 per cent of all those registered—defied Soviet threats and scorned Soviet blandishments to go to the polls Sunday. Almost two-thirds voted for the social Democrats, chief target of Russian wrath.

Banned in the Soviet zone and boycotted by the communists, the West Berlin elections were the only post-war examples of the secret ballot behind the iron curtain.

The rousing reception given the polling by the Germans in the face of repeated Soviet intimidation attempts showed the determination of Berliners to preserve the island of democracy which western occupation of Berlin makes possible.

Complete unoffocial returns gave social Democrats 64.5 percent of the total vote. Conservative Christian Democrats won 19.4 per cent, and rightist liberal Democrats 16 1 per cent.

(The Moscow newspaper Pravda charged the western powers used "every means of propaganda and pressure" to compel western Berliners to vote.)

REUTER TO BE MAYOR

The returns perhaps showed that Soviet attacks have been an asset to the social Democrats. In 1946 they obtained only 48.7 per cent of the total vote, compared to 64 5 today.

Communists, who gathered only 19.8 per cent in 1946 obviously could not have done as well if they had participated this year, since only 14.8 percent of those registered failed to vote—many because they were ill or have left Berlin.

The results virtually assured Ernest Reuter, Social Democratic leader, of his selection as mayor by the city assembly. Reuter, an ex-communist, is anathema to the Soviets, who vetoed his selection as mayor after the 1946 elections.

Western occupation officials and political leaders hailed the mass turnout. They contrasted the election of the west sector government by one million 400 thousand Berliners in a secret ballot with the naming of the "rump" Soviet-sponsored government by 150,000 unenthusiastic hand-raisers last Tuesday.

Players Die As Bus Burns

GRANTS PASS, Ore. —(AP)— Two high school athletes were killed and 25 other members and coaches of the Grants Pass football team were injured when a bus overturned and burned near here last night.

The squad was within five miles of home and a rousing welcome planned for their winning of the state football championship the day previous at Portland.

Survivors said the chartered bus was enveloped in flames and that they escaped by smashing the windows.

Both of the victims were believed stunned when the bus overturned. Their charred bodies were found two hours later in separate sections of the bus. They were star halfback Al Newman and varsity lineman Sterling Heater.

Willard Man, 78, Stricken

Death Cheats Huron Jury

NORWALK — Death last night cheated a Huron county jury of the right to try 78-year-old William Bonnett of Willard for the slaying of his wife, Maude, 63.

Bonnett died shortly before 9 p. m., in the Huron county jail a few minutes after suffering a heart attack. He was a retired B. and O. railroad engineer. His case was scheduled for hearing soon.

Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Skinner said the excitement and strain of a first-degree murder charge apparently were too much for the aged man. Bonnett complained earlier in the evening of feeling ill and Dr. Charles Edel, deputy coroner, was called and was present when Bonnett suffered the fatal attack.

Bonnett's wife was found beaten to death Nov. 27 in their small upstairs apartment in Willard. Bonnett was seated near the body.

He admitted killing his wife, police said, but said he did it in self defense during an argument. He said they had been quarreling nearly 20 years. He told police his wife attacked him with a knife, stabbing him in the side after felling him with a glass vase. He then obtained a hammer and beat her to death, he related.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Following the killing Bonnett attempted suicide in the room where the tragedy occurred but a clothesline broke.

Bonnett pleaded self defense and waived a jury trial at a preliminary hearing Nov. 29 before Mayor Ray A. Snook in Willard. He then was brought to the county jail here under a first degree murder charge.

Bonnett's body was taken to the Orebaugh funeral home here pending removal to Garrett, Ind. Three sons and a daughter, by a previous marriage, survive. They are Harry, of Washington state, Kenneth and Carl of Garrett, and Mrs. Nola Shulthess, also of Garrett. Seven grandchildren also survive.

Rites will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in Victor Chapel, near Logansport in Pulaski county, Ind., with burial in the cemetery there Bonnett was a member of the Methodist church in Garrett.

Lame Ducks Meet Today

Weigh Herbert Bid For Funds

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Ohio's "lame duck" legislature is meeting today amid an air of indifference for the special session called by Republican Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

Herbert summoned the legislators many of them GOP'ers who joined him in the ranks of the defeated at the November election, to ask for $1,900,000 immediately for a tuberculosis hospital at Ohio State university and an administration building at Apple Creek State school.

The governor stood pat at morning press conference on his decision to limit action at the special session to the two subjects stated in his call.

Top speculation as the legislature assembled for its 1:30 p. m. meeting was whether leaders of the house of representatives would encounter serious trouble in mustering the 93 votes to pass the two appropriation bills as emergency measures, making the funds immediately available.

Herbert's program for emergency action is:

1. Appropriation of $1,000,000 for a 300-bed tuberculosis hospital at Ohio State university. The $2,000,000 appropriated for the project last year is just about 50 per cent light of the lowest bid submitted to the state.

2. An additional grant of $900,000 for an administration building at Apple Creek school near Wooster. Bids on this project totaled $851,000 but the governor indicated architects and other fees would raise the total cost to the recommended figure.

The Democratic senators and representatives-elect will hold caucus meetings tomorrow to choose their assembly leaders.

All England Not Against General Eisenhower's Book, Paper Claims

MEMOS OF A GIRL FRIDAY

Dear Mr. W.: London Daily Telegraph called. Said not all Londoners feel that way about Gen. Eisenhower's book. They are sending rave review about it as it ran in London Telly. Also the "rap" ran in the Sunday Times, not The London Times—not same people. . . . It's a boy for the commentator John Vandercooks at N. Y. hospital. (Mama is former Iris Flynn, actress). . . . Hear some of Bea Lillie's silverware is missing from her flat. Saw nothing yet in papers.

Elliot Roosevelt demanded separate chex when Johnny Myers bought a drink. . . . "I've had enough of his expense accounts!" he screamed. . . . I wouldn't buy any Televistations, if I were you. Understand NBC is losing $13,000 daily on theirs.

Don't insist upon the source, please, but the "real reason" behind Graziano's "runout" on the California bout is allegedly this: Rocky was approached by gamblers who demanded he take a dive "or else."

He was afraid to report this episode as he drew a suspension the last time for reporting the the same thing in New York. Anyway, there it is, the way it was given to me.

"Bravo!" cast and management thank you for the help. They tell me playgoers find it really entertaining. Watts in Post called it a "warm and nourishing comedy studded with humor." Geo. J. Nathan said: "It entertained me a heap more than some theoretically more polished ones" ....That reminds me, Mr. Nathan (in this Journal-American essay Monday) used "prattfalls," which is also in all of Mencken's "American Language" books. But when we try to use it in the Mirror—it's always jerked. (Ed. note: Huh?) ....Did you send Mr. Mencken a wire at Johns Hopkins Hosp., Baltimore? He was mighty generous in his latest edition, when he described the frauds "who try to wear the Winchell ermine."

How long can an identification be? Thomas K. Finletter is listed as "American Minister in charge of the Economic Cooperation Administration Mission to the United Kingdom"!....

M. Berle, who never failed anyone yet, says he will be glad to emcee the Dec. 26 Roney-Plaza event for the Runyon Fund. The committee, by the way, assumes you are turning the coi over to the U. of Florida; at least a good chunk of it

Hope you heard the Bing and Groucho programs. Very gay and breezy. Funny guyz.....Capt. Y. Wayland led only 300 men and women of this village (Negba) against the Egyptian force of 2,000 infantry and 24 tanks, and won! He also stood off Farouk's troops, who fired 30,000 shells! He says the Jewish casualties were mainly in hand-to-hand combat because the Egyptians bit them. They use their teeth, no bayonets.

Many of World's Greatest Artists Treasured Cats, Columnist Claims

By GEORGE TUCKER (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK—Have you got a grudge against cats? You'd better get rid of it.

It indicates a lack of discrimination that will forever bar you from the company of great popes, kings, philosophers, writers, composers and leaders of men who have loved these charming creatures down through the centuries.

The Chinese are very blunt about it. They say people who dislike cats are really rats in another incarnation.

I wouldn't go that far, but I do recommend that you familiarize yourself with the influence cats have exercised on the lives of great men and women.

Mohammed had a cat. Its name was Muezza. The French poet Loti wrote that he never really understood Mohammed's compassion and greatness until he understood his relationship to this animal. Often the cat went to sleep on his robes. Mohammed always called for scissors and cut away the hem or the sleeve or whatever part of the robe the cat had chosen, rather than disturb him.

Edgar Allan Poe, Lafcadi Hearn, Pope Leo XII, Henry James, Thomas Hardy and Samuel Butler were celebrated cat lovers.

Pope Leo often presented kittens to his friends and once gave a great black and red cat to Chateaubriand, who bragged in print, "he was born in the Vatican...he is called Micetto, and he is surnamed 'the Pope's Cat'...".

Antinio Sacchini, the Italian composer, wrote operas with his favorite cats sitting on his shoulder, and Henry James, the writer, worked the same way.

It is worth noting that the Bible fails to mention cats a single time. But considering the Scriptural judgment on dogs, the cats probably are lucky. The Bible castigates dogs, mentioning them 44 times and always with contempt. This must cause some frustration in dog lovers who accept every word of the scriptures as literal.

The British writer Michael Joseph, who has written several marvelous books about cats, suggests that failure of biblical author's to mention cats is due probably to reluctance to say anything favorable about the Egyptians, enslavers of the Jews, who had deified cats.

Joseph tells of a cat that once lived at St. Paul's cathedral in London. She would drag her progeny over and under pews, and sometimes sat with the choir during services.

Gautier, Baudelaire, Zola, Byron and Dumas were others who openly delighted in the company of cats.

Gautier had many kittens, but he lived in the Paris of famine-stricken days and they gradually disappeared, one by one, as his hungry countrymen caught and ate them.

How shrewd was the essayist Montaigne when he asked, "when I play with my cat who knows whether she amuses herself with me, or I with her?"

In more recent times the actor James Mason has made cats a cult and has delighted people from Britain to the 48 United States with his tales and reminiscences of their behavior. He will not travel without them. This recalls Florence Nightingale, who owned more than a half hundred of the animals and would go nowhere without them.

Seeks Funds For OSR Hospital

State Hopeful Work Can Be Done

State welfare department officials are trying to work out a plan for building the proposed Mansfield reformatory hospital, although bids exceeded the appropriation set up for the project.

Charles L. Sherwood, director of the State Department of Welfare, told The News-Journal today an attempt was being made to go ahead with the proposed hospital, either by using unexpended monies in other funds or by asking the legislature for an additional appropriation.

The special session of the state assembly meeting opened today. Sherwood said he did not know when a decision would be reached.

Bids for the three-story, 70-bed hospital exceeded the estimate by $133,946.

The state's overall estimate totaled $330,918. The low bids totaled $464,144.

Low bidders included Mountaineer Construction company, Pittsburgh, general construction, bid, $354,233; Charles Hoffman company, Mansfield, plumbing and heating, $79,121; Buchman Electric construction, Mansfield, electrical work, $12,633; and Westinghouse corporation of Cleveland, elevators, $16,156.

Top Citizen To Be Named

Mansfield's honor citizen will be selected at a meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Boy Scout office, Gerald Dent, Jaycee coordinator for the Honor Citizen committee, announced today.

The winner will be presented a diamond studded pin and introduced to the audience at the 11th edition of "The Best Is Yet to Come," on Dec. 21 at Johnny Appleseed junior high school.

Nominations for the award can be made by representatives of civic groups which serve on the Honor Citizen committee, of any Mansfielder who cares to submit a nomination.

The award is presented to persons who have helped others without receiving or hoping to receive any reward or recognition, Dent said. Persons with prospective nominees were asked to contact Dent at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

The Honor Citizen pin will be displayed in the window of Culp Brothers Jewelry store, along with pictures of past Honor Citizens. Ralph Chapman, of the YMCA, won last month's award.

'Messiah' Opens City Yule Music Season

By NITA BRANSON

Handel's Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah," provided an auspicious opening last night for Mansfield's season of Christmas music.

The "Christmas section" of the famous musical work was presented in the First Presbyterian church by the Mansfield Choral Society.

Before a crowded sanctuary, a chorus of 40 voices presented Handel's magnificent version of the Old Testament prophecy of the coming of the Lord, with reverent, understanding interpretation.

Chorus work under the direction of J. Frederick Wolf was expertly done and the solo parts, both recitative and airs, had a moving, devout appeal.

Particularly gripping were the last two airs, "He Shall Feed His Flock" and "Come Unto Him" sung by Miss Erma Jenkins, alto, and Miss Beverly Wentz, soprano. The two parts, among the better known arias from "The Messiah" were a fitting preparation for the sweeping, climactic notes of the "Hallelujah chorus for which the audience stood.

Other soloists besides Miss Wentz and Miss Jenkins were Paul Old and Harry Meier, well-known Mansfield bases, and Lewis Girton of Galion, who possesses a fine tenor voice. Miss Louise Krause was organist for the performance.

PASTOR PRESIDES

Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of the church, gave the invocation, the offertory prayer and the benediction.

Mansfield singers, besides the solosists who took part in last night's presentation were Beverly Binsack, Jane Brook, Marcene Dickson, Glenna Ferrell, Mabel Greer, Thurza Hazeltine, Marie Kozminski, Betty Murray, Betty Pagnard, Joan Solomon, Beverly Wesson and Margaret Whitcomb, sopranos;

Mary Anglin, Naomi Carr, Janet Dickson, Marilyn Heuss, Eleanor Homerick, Dorothy Nichols, Lucile Resor, Mary Smith, Zella Smith, Joyce Swaney, Dorothy Tingley and Lois Traxler, altos;

David Dickson, David Gregg, John Klinger, Aurthur Schmittke, Paul Smith, John Smucker and Howard Tittelbaugh, tenors;

Retired Worker Dies

James Anderson, 70, of 188 Cleveland avenue, died yesterday evening at his home following a lingering illness.

He was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, Dec. 19, 1877, and came to Mansfield in 1910.

Mr. Anderson was a retired employe of the Ideal Electric company.

He is survived by his wife, Belle; five sons, James, Alexander, Robert, Alfred and Richard, and two daughters, Miss Catherine Anderson and Mrs. Joseph Them, all of Mansfield; a brother, Alexander, of Texas, and seven grandchildren.

The body is at the family home and will remain there for funeral services at 3 p. m. Wednesday, in charge of Rev. Willard J. Shawk, pastor of the Main Street Evangelical United Brethren church. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of the Wappner funeral home.

Greet New Commander

Legion Officials Meet In Columbus

Commander John Echelberry of O'Brien American Legion post at Shelby joined other Ohio Legionnaires in welcoming the new national Legion commander in Columbus over the week end.

National Commander Perry S. Brown of Texas was guest of honor at the annual commanders' and adjutants' conference in Columbus.

Brown stressed that the nation must be adequately prepared at all times to defend itself against enemies of our government from within as well as outside of our land.

Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, who spoke Sunday said Russia can't be dealt with as other nations in Europe because Russia stems from the Orient. The continuing consciousness by Russia of our striking power is the only thing that prevents Russia's attempt to start another world conflict, he added.

"Only through world government and our help in raising the standards of living of European countries and possibly China can we hope to stem this tide of communism. To maintain her great military strength, Russia now has the lowest standard of living of any country except China," he stated.

The executive committee of the Ohio American Legion went on record as favoring the sale of three large government-owned housing projects to the veterans now living in them.

The projects are located in Cincinnati, Greenbelt, Md., and Greendale, Wis. Veterans occupy them on a non-profit basis.

BRIGHT HOLIDAY—

Mansfield Christmas trees should be well lighted this year. For the first time since the war, Mansfield merchants are offering a variety of electric Christmas lights and plenty of extra bulbs. Not only are the regular strings of lights available, but Mansfielders can buy more modern Christmas decorations such as electric bulbs that appear to bubble when they are lighted.

STILL OPEN—

It's not too late to "get in the swim," Miss Dorothy Hainer, business and industrial girls' secretary of the YWCA, said today that registration for YWCA-sponsored women's swimming classes is still open. There is room for more women in both the beginning and intermediate classes, she said. The swimming classes got under way last Thursday and will be held twice a month in the Senior high school pool. The next classes will be held Dec. 16. Women who wish to enter the classes should call the YWCA, 4523-6, to register and to apply for medical examinations.

POPULAR EMCEE—

R. O. Richards, a member of the local SPEBSQSA chapter, did the "emceeing" for the Harvest of Harmony program Saturday night at John Simpson junior high school. His performance prompted considerable comment—all favorable. He kept the near-capacity audience in stitches between numbers with a running repartee. Some of his props were a bartender's apron, a beer stein, a black derby, and a five-gallon hat. He even dragged two dogs into the act. Part of his job was introducing the members of the 10 quartets which participated in the SPEBSQSA—sponsored show.

Mishaps Take 12 Lives In Ohio

L. L. Feagin, 53, of 789 North Main street, narrowly escaped death or serious injury Saturday night when his car was struck by a train at the West Longview avenue crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Wins $2,500 As Damages

A common pleas court jury today returned a directed verdict for $2,500 in favor of Oliver Hoffman, of 421 Scholl road, against the Pennsylvania railroad and the Dominion Electric corporation, of Mansfield.

The jury was directed to render the verdict for the sum by Judge G. E. Kelbfleisch, after the plaintiff's case was presented to the court.

Hoffman had sued for $35,000, alleging the defendants were negligent when he was caught between the Dominion building and a Pennsylvania train on July 27, 1945, while making a delivery.

He claimed he had been injured permanently in the accident and has been unable to work. The railroad contended Hoffman was warned by the train conductor to move from the spot where he was standing. The electric company contended Hoffman's injuries were due to his own negligence.

Hoffman's attorneys were William F. Voegele and John O'Donnell while the Dominion company was represented by C. H. Henkel.

SENIOR HIGH'S 1948 football squad had a few breathers, of course. . . . But the Bengals also played some fine outfits. . . . Massillon and Whiting were just about tops in Ohio and Indiana respectively. . . . The Massillon crew was almost a unanimous choice as Buckkings while Whiting and sville Reitz, both unbeaten, one-two in the Hoosier state. . Evansville had a point rating of 100.8 while Whiting had 99.9. . . . The closest team was South Bend Central with 92.4. . . . Martins Ferry and Hamilton two other Tyger opponents, landed among Ohio's top five. . . Many eastern sports writers were not sure about the earthquake which hit Southern California shortly after the dramatic USC-Notre Dame 14-14 tie Saturday. . . Bob French, veteran Toledo scribe, quipped, "I'm sure I've just seen the Trojans tie the Irish That's enough of an upheaval to be sure about without checking on earthquakes the same day." . . The Loudonville high school booster club contributed much to the football cause. . . The boosters pushed erection of an $8,000 lighting plant, put up a new press box and helped erect a new section of bleachers. . . It cost the New York Yankees $5,000 to feed their football candidates steaks and chops during summer grid practice.

A HEADLINE in the Charlotte, North Carolina, News, recently said, "How good would NC be without Justice, or with Hartig?" . . The Hartig in question was the stocky blond block-buster who used to star for Mansfield Senior high . He was a three-year regular blocking back at North Carolina and a supreme signal-caller. . The story said, in part, "There's another question, too, that alumni would like to have answered. How much better would Carolina have been had not Don Hartig been injured in the Texas game? The quarterback was the key man, and in Don the team put a confidence which it could not easily shift to another quarterback."

Pat Harder Kicks 72nd Consecutive Point Conversion

CHICAGO — (INS) — Write two new national football league records into the books today for Harder of the Chicago Cardinals.

Harder, the league's leading scorer with 98 points this season, kicked all six points after touchdown for the Cards yesterday as they walloped the Green Bay Packers 42 to 7.

His first conversion broke the league record for consecutive points after touchdown in a single season.

Harder's fourth extra point shattered the total consecutive-conversions standard of 72 chalked up by Jack Manders of the Bears over a decade.

Windy City Clubs Meet Next Sunday

(By United Press)

The Bears and the Cardinals, Chicago's twin titans of the National Football league, cleared the final hurdles today before their battle next Sunday for the western division championship.

Burrowed in ankle-deep mud and whipped by a gale-like wind, the Cardinals defeated the Green Bay Packers, 42 to 7, yesterday at Chicago while the Bears rode Sid Luckman's aerial route to a 42 to 14 triumph over the Detroit Lions at Detroit.

That left the pair with identical records of 10 victories and one defeat—and one game left to play. That one game is against each other for the championship.

LOST TO EAGLES

The Bears downed the Cards, 28-17, in their earlier meeting this season and later lost to the eastern division champion Philadelphia Eagles.

The Eagles already had their title clinched yesterday when they went into action against the Boston Yanks, and it was just as well.

For the Yanks, afraid of the future because they've taken so many football and financial beatings, rose up for an amazing 37 to 14 upset victory at Boston.

The Pittsburgh Steelers turned on the old single-wing power to down the New York Giants, 38 to 28, in yesterday's other NFL game.

The weather was the chief opponent of the Cardinals in their miserable experience playing the Packers—but in the final analysis, it was the Chicago eleven which took best advantage of the breaks caused by the slippery footing. In fact, all but two Card touchdowns were the result of breaks.

50,000 To See National Loop Playoff Game

CHICAGO— (INS) —A roaring sell-out crowd of more than 50,000 fans will make Wrigley Field bulge for the cross-city Donnybrook next Sunday afternoon. Additional thousands will watch the telecast of the game and a million or more will hear the radio account.

That's all as it should be, because there probably isn't another game in all football to match this one.

True, the Cards lost to the Bears earlier this season, but the Red Coats had just suffered a grevious loss in the death of Stan Mauldin, who perhaps was the best tackle in football.

The Bears in turn, blew one of their 11 ball games, losing to the eastern division champion Philadelphia Eagles in the mud and grime at Philadelphia.

The Bears are strongest defensively, the Cards offensively

But both teams have a stirring scoring punch and both will be "up" mentally for Sunday's battle

The Bear line is stronger at the tackles and defensive ends than the Cardinal forwards, as a general rule. The teams are on a par at center. And the Cardinals, with Ramsey, Arms, Apolskis Nichols and Andros- all expert heavy-duty performers—have better depth at guard.

Ohio Stadium May Be Host To '49 All-Star Grid Game

By JIM DAILEY

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Earl V. Carlin, sports director of the Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce, said today that his group would make a "determined bid" to secure the 1949 Ohio high school all-star game for Columbus.

Carlin, who talked with the executive-secretary of the Ohio High School Coaches association, Ducky Schroeder, on the subject over the week end, said "There are several obstacles to be overcome in staging the game here, but we expect to get right at it this week and get our bid to Schroeder before Dec. 18."

CANTON HOST TWICE

The all-star game, held annually in connection with the association's football clinic, will be a contest between the North and South squads picked by the coaches Saturday. Canton staged the game and clinic the past two years and the first one was held in Toledo.

The obstacles Carlin referred to were: A suitable stadium, posting of a guarantee, and high school sponsorship. He felt sure they could be overcome. He said the game could be held in Ohio stadium, providing there were no present Big Nine or school rules against it, and if not there, Red Bird stadium could be rented.

A guarantee of $2,000 required by the coaches could be posted with little trouble, he said, and the contest could be sponsored by either the Columbus school board or one of the city schools.

Carlin and some of his Chamber of Commerce colleagues feel that if the game were put on with suitable ballyhoo, pageantry and publicity it might draw in the neighborhood of 50,000 people.

PLAN BANQUET

The Junior Chamber plans to have the North and South squads of the All-Ohio team to a father-and-son banquet in the Columbus Athletic club at Noon, Dec. 18. Officials of Ohio colleges, the chosen coaches for the squads, and prominent athletes will be guests. Awards will be given the squad members in recognition of their achievement.

Schroeder, after the coaches meeting Saturday, said all bids for the all-star game must be submitted to him at Massillon high school on or before Dec. 18. No date has been set for the clinic and game, though it is usually held during the latter part of August.

Mansfield's quarterback, Paul Ferguson, was named to the North team.

Savold, Woodcock Battle In London

LONDON —(AP)— Lee Savold, the ex-bartender from Minnesota, and Bruce Woodcock, the British heavyweight champion, fight a crucial 10 rounds tonight for a possible shot at Joe Louis and his world title. At 9 a. m. (EST) they will weigh in at promotor Jack Solomons' gymnasium.

Seven hours later they will step into the ring in Harringay arena before a capacity crowd of 10,600.

Orlie Grable Is Consistent In 673 Series

Cigar-smoking Orlie Grable blasted a 673 in the most consistent series of the season yesterday while competing with Liederkranz in a North Central Ohio league match on the Colony alleys.

Grable pounded out games of 223, 227, and 223 to amass his total. Despite that fact, his team lost two out of three games to Smokey's Inn. Only the middle game in which Frank Burton fired a 242 did the locals win.

The other Liederkranz team also dropped two of three to Bissman's in another loop match. A 636 series by Bob Lynch and a 514 by Art Hilborn paced Bissman's to victory. Lynch had a 247 single game and Art a 228.

Dale Cleckner turned in the only other honor roll score in the loop. Rolling with Zahn Construction which won two of three games, Dale posted 194-256-158—608.

—o—

Local women bowlers fared a little better in league competition as they won four of six games. The Mansfield women took two from a Mt. Vernon team in the Central Ohio travelling league matches at Delaware. Sue Humphrey led this quintet with 144-194-145—483.

Alene Peters' 178-202-167—547 led PD's Bar to a two-out-of-three win over Sportsman's Grill of Galion on the Richland Recreation alleys. This match was in the NCO travelling loop.

—o—

Kozak Distributors took two out of three games from Charm Fashion and won the match by 46 pins last night at Richland. Win Cleckner had a 508 for Kozak.

—o—

In the Sons of Herman league at Colony, the four week lead of the Secretaries came to an end as the Flyers won two of three games while the Secretaries dropped three to the Presidents.

Lloyd Pugh was the individual leader with a 170-166-201—537. His third single game was also the high in that department. Helen Kurek's 175 and 469 also led the Daughters of Herman.

Baltimore Delays AAC Title Tilt

(Compiled From Wire Services)

Baltimore's rags-to-riches Colts moved to within grasping distance of the All-America conference eastern division football championship today, and Sunday they meet Buffalo in a playoff for the title.

The Colts, who only last season were deep in the league cellar, lashed out in every period to down Buffalo, 35 to 15, yesterday at Baltimore. That placed the two teams in a tie for the division lead at the end of their regular schedules, necessitating the playoff at Baltimore. The winner will meet Cleveland for the league championship Dec. 19 at Cleveland.

EVENS SERIES

Baltimore's vital victory yesterday evened the series between the two rivals. Buffalo had beaten the Colts, 35-17, earlier this season.

The Browns had little trouble ending their regular season with a 31 to 21 win over Brooklyn in another game yesterday, while Frankie Albert set a new professional record of 29 for touchdown passes in leading San Francisco to a 38 to 21 win over Los Angeles.

The New York Yankees beat the Chicago Rockets, 28 to 7, Saturday.

The Browns entered the final period of their game with the Dodgers with a comfortable 31 to 7 lead, but they then had their pass defense torn thoroughly apart on some exceptional passing by Michigan's Bob Chappuis.

The Dodger halfback passed for one touchdown and paved the way for another score with another aerial in the final period, making it necessary for Coach Paul Brown to rush his regulars back into the game. Chappuis also passed for a touchdown in the third quarter.

ALL BROWNS PLAY

Brown used all his healthy athletes, with only Guards Bob Gaudio and Weldon Humble missing the battle. For the first time in several games, the Browns got by without a serious injury.

The triumph hiked the Browns' long unbeaten string to 23 games, including the title playoff with the New York Yankees a year ago.

Not since the Chicago Bears went unbeaten in 1942 has a major league eleven completed a regular campaign without a setback. The Chicagoans were whipped in their title game that year by Washington, 14 to 6.

Tickets for the conference championship playoff in Cleveland stadium Dec. 19 were placed on sale by the Browns' office today.

Duquesne Seek Name Coach

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— Duquesne university sent out feelers today for a "name football coach to succeed Kass Kovalcheck, who resigned under fire as the Dukes closed another dismal grid season.

Duquesne officials were after a nationally-known coach to lure not only standout players but give the school a financial shot-in-the-arm at the ticket window. It was no secret that Duquesne has lost heavily at the gate during the past two football seasons.

School officials have declined to comment on the situation. Kovalcheck's resignation, it was pointed out, hasn't even been accepted by the Athletic committee. He resigned last Saturday as the committee reportedly was ready to meet to consider his discharge.

However, usually reliable sources said Duquesne would be willing to talk salary with Hugh Devore, the war-time Notre Dame coach whose three-year contract at St. Bonaventure ends this fall.

NOAC Opens Gates To All Ohio Schools

Following the withdrawal of Steubenville, the Northern Ohio Athletic conference, today threw open its doors for high school football powers from any part of the state.

Steubenville withdrew from the new football loop at yesterday's meeting because of too much pressure from its present schedule. Senior high Athletic Director Augie Morningstar who represented Mansfield, reported.

Howard Brinker of Steubenville submitted the resignation to representatives of the six remaining conference schools who met at Yantz cottage, Canton.

Heinie Beck of Warren was elected new president of the loop, succeeding Morningstar. Frank Paulie of Toledo Waite replaced Beck as vice-president while Robert Hise of Massillon was awarded Brinker's spot as secretary.

SEND INVITATIONS

League fathers decided to send invitations to a number of large down-state schools which are known to produce good football squads. Included will likely be Hamilton, Middletown, Newark, Martins Ferry, Gallipolis, and several other teams which had good records during the past season.

Just how many teams will be allowed in the league was not determined but will be decided at a meeting scheduled to be held at the Cleveland Browns football clinic in the spring. Acceptances received from all the southern schools will be considered.

The southern half of the Greater Ohio league dissolved earlier because of apparent lack of interest among enough of the members.

★

Morningstar reported that he had met with no success in booking a fifth league game for Senior high next year. Conflicting dates prevented schedule of a game with Canton McKinley and the other four league schools—Warren, Massillon, Toledo Waite, and Alliance—are already on the Tyger card.

Two more non-league games will be added to complete the schedule.

John Carroll Wins Bowl Game, 14-13

CLEVELAND — (UP) — The second annual Great Lakes Bowl game, played here yesterday with John Carroll university defeating Canisius college, 14 to 13, today was pronounced a success by the Knights of Columbus, sponsors of the event.

The contest drew a crowd of 17,964, an increase of some 5,000 over last year's Bowl game between Kentucky and Villanova, and officials said there would be another Great Lakes game next season.

'It's My Fault We Didn't Beat Notre Dame,' Says Jeff Cravath

NEW YORK (AP) Southern California can blame only Coach Jeff Cravath today for its failure to beat instead of tie—Notre Dame as the nation's greatest surprise.

And the authority for that statement is none other than Coach Jeff Cravath, himself.

"I told our kicker, Chuck Peterson, to get the ball [illegible] the ground and boot a low, hard-to-handle kick. We would have won that way."

But the its notwithstanding, Southern Cal certainly earned a moral victory in that marathon of madness played before 100,000 in Los Angeles. The Irish, prohibitive pre-game favorites, had won 31 games in a row and were undefeated and untied for this season when the jolt came

Wearing [illegible] Trojans still cast astonished looks at the fabulous 11 to 11 final score, Cravath said the Southern Cal[illegible] after the second Irish touchdown was the difference between victory and a tie. Notre Dame's E.J. Gay ran the kickoff back 87 yards to set up the Irish touchdown was produced the deadlock.

"I told our kicker, Chuck Peterson, to get the ball [illegible] the way down [illegible]," Cravath said. "It was a perfect kick, real high, and that gave [illegible] a split [illegible] second [illegible] the ball, [illegible] blocked us and scored [illegible].

"I was wrong. I should have told Peterson to lay a bad [illegible]

Detective Describes Fake Raids

'All for Lousy $75 Week'

(Editor's Note: Here is the hard-boiled story of a real private detective, stripped of fictional glamor and super-sleuthing. It is the first-person account of Max Zuckerman, described by New York District Attorney Frank Hogan as the mastermind in a ring of "divorce mill specialists" engaged in faking adultery evidence for uncontested divorces in New York city where infidelity is the only legal grounds for breaking a marriage.)

By MAX ZUCKERMAN
(As told to Sherman Miller)

NEW YORK — (INS) — I'm no angel but I only tried to make a living the same way hundreds of other private detectives are trying to scratch up bucks for their families

Sure I faked raids and coached the girls on how to go into their act

Sure I testified that I had been along on raids that never took place.

All for a lousy 75 bucks a week

That's about what I averaged in the past four years since I got my license

I got $50 for most of the phony raids and paid the girl $10

I always tried to persuade the husband to tip the girl, though, and lots of them did

Once — and this was only a couple days before I got arrested last week — I got $100 for a phony raid and thought things were really starting to come my way, maybe yachts.

That's a laugh The D A's boys tailed me on the whole job and now I don't even have a push-cart

I only got $10 apiece for the faked testimony jobs because I would only do them for pals of mine

One of these lawyers co-signed for me at the Finance company when I borrowed $300 to pay for my detective license fees

Another lawyer once paid my rent when I couldn't

How could I turn these fellows down when they asked me to get on the stand and answer a few simple question?

I don't know how many phony cases I actually worked on in the past two years. Maybe 150. Some weeks I'd get maybe two, three. The next week, nothing.

I got to know a bunch of lawyers around town

They'd call up and say "everything is all set up, Max All we need is the evidence and you can get it on this night at this place"

That meant that the husband and wife had agrred she was to get a divorce and the husband or the lawyer had hired the girl.

(Adultery is the only grounds for divorce in New York state and there must be corroborating evidence)

Other lawyers would simply call me up and say, "Max go out and get the evidence and bring me in the affidavit tomorrow"

This meant that I had to hire the girl and room and stage the raid These were the 50-buck cases The others ran less

The lawyers who told me to get the evidence myself were the smart ones The cutie-boos, we call them.

Because in case of raps and jams like the one I'm in now, they can say that their ethics are pure and that they had no idea I had faked the raid

They never told me to, in so many words, you see

But nobody was kidding anybody, believe me

I knew that the husband knew, and the wife knew, and the attorneys on both sides knew.

In the $100 case that I told you about, the lawyer told me, 'my client, the wife, doesn't know the evidence will be in the bag and will think it's a real raid

So I called Sara Ellis and told her to meet me on the sidewalk in front of my office at 7 p m on Nov. 13

(Sara Ellis is the witness who first told her story to the Journal-American and was turned over to the district attorney enabling him to launch the present probe)

She got there on time and so did the husband and his attorney, F H I had never met either before

I told the husband and Sara to go to a Times Square hotel and register

I told Sara to come down to the drug store after they had checked in and give me the room number

I had already phoned the wife in the case and told her to be at the corner of 43rd and fifth at 7 30 p. m

She got there, along with a friend I told her to bring

We went to the hotel.

In a few minutes we went up and there was Sara, like always in bed with the covers pulled up to her chin and the husband stripped to his undershirt and trousers

Sara came down afterwards and I paid her her $10.

I used four girls in my phony raids, setups we called them. One of the girls I used was a real lady. She was older, about 60, I guess, and had gotton a divorce from her husband.

A legitimate raid, she told me, and she honestly caught him.

She had two kids to support and needed the money.

She told me she was ashamed of herself for doing this work. It seemed the only way.

I used her a lot She never talked with the husbands Never stayed on afterwards Always went right straight home and never caused me any trouble.

I know she was kind of old for that work, but when they're in bed with the sheets pulled up and their backs turned to you like I always tell them to be, it doesn't make any difference whether they're 16 ro 60.

They're still the 'unidentified woman."

Writers Name Great Citation Horse of Year

NEW YORK (AP) To the surprise of no one who follows horse racing, Citation today was named "Horse of the Year" in the annual poll conducted by "Turf and Sports Digest," Baltimore racing publication.

The Calumet Comet, winning the top honor for his stable for the fifth time in 13 years, was adjudged the outstanding racer of 1948 by 161 of the 163 sports writers who participated in the poll. He drew the same number of first place votes in the balloting for the best three-year-old of the season.

Citation, which finished first in all but two of his starts in two seasons of racing, was adjudged the outstanding two-year-old last season and drew eight votes for the horse of the year then. He recently drew the top vote in a similar poll of daily racing form turf experts.

Previously, Whirlaway in 1941 and 1942, Twilight Tear in 1944 and Armed in 1947 had carried off "Horse of the Year" honors for Warren Wright's Calumet stable. The poll has been conducted since 1936 by Edgar Horn, editor of Turf and Sports Digest.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Bob Malloy of Indianapolis, 30 year old right-hander who was with Cincinnati in 1946-47, walked off with most of the American association pitching honors in 1948, official statistics showed yesterday.

Malloy compiled the best won-and-lost percentage with .750, capturing 21 games while losing seven. He also topped the circuit in most innings pitched with 242, faced the most batsmen, 966, twirled the most complete games, 18, and was the league's only 20-game winner.

In earned run average, however, he was far below the leader with 4.17. Glenn Elliott, 26-year-old lefty sent to Milwaukee by the Boston Braves, headed the regular pitchers with a 3.76 earned run average.

Trucker Unhurt As Vehicle Burns

BUCYRUS—A large truckload of automobile accessories was destroyed by fire near here Saturday but the driver, Edwin H. Althouse of Allentown, Pa., escaped uninjured, Sheriff Ralph E. Schreck reported today.

Althouse told authorities he was crowded off the highway on Route 98, three miles east of Bucyrus, by another truck. When his truck left the highway, it turned over on its side and caught fire. Althouse "thumbed" a ride with a passing motorist, who took him to Plymouth. Later he returned to Bucyrus.

The cargo was a complete loss, Sheriff Schreck said. The truck was owned by Kenneth R. Hauze of Allentown.

LOUDONVILLE—A meeting of the young Men's Farm club will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the agricultural room of the high school. O. D. Diller, associate forester of the state forestry department will be on hand to discuss "Farm Woodlot Management."

He will spend about one-half hour in the class room and then the group will drive to the Kettering (Charles F.) farm for a practical demonstration in the woods.

Bucyrus Notes Accident Drop

BUCYRUS — Although traffic accidents showed a decrease in Bucyrus in November, more traffic mishaps have occurred in the first 11 months of this year than were reported during all of 1947, Lt Charles Ghist, Bucyrus police department safety officer, reported today.

The 25 accidents occurring last month brought the 1948 total up to 352 while 1947's grand total was only 345. In the first 11 months of 1947, only 321 accidents were reported to police.

Two traffic deaths have occurred during 1948, the same number as in 1947.

Lt. Ghist's survey showed that during this year the most accidents occurred in May, when 46 were reported, and the fewest in July when there were 24.

Purchase Parsonage

LOUDONVILLE—The Loudonville Church of the Nazarene has purchased a house on North Union street near the Nazarene church. It will be used as a parsonage. The pastor, Rev. Roger A. Kincaid and family, will move into the house at once.

PASTOR GETS CALL

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

JUST LOOKING—Paul Kovinchick, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kovinchick, 138 East Third street, stops to feast his eyes on a display of Christmas candy in the window of a Mansfield candy shop. The two giant chocolate Santa Clauses in the back of the window are enough to make any youngster stop for a second look.

★ ★ ★

You Can Buy An 84-Pound Santa Claus

Favorite Christmas Candies Back

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without Santa Claus, and this year the chocolate variety is back in large quantities for the first time since the war.

If you're willing to pay the price, you can buy a solid chocolate Santa Claus weighing 84 pounds. But at the prevailing rate of 10 cents an ounce, this oversize piece of candy would cost nearly $135. A Mansfield candy store has two of the chocolate giants for window displays.

The smaller chocolate Santas are more moderately priced, beginning at 40 cents each for the hollow type. Since they are priced according to weight, the solid chocolate variety is more expensive.

The chocolate Santas are proving to be very popular this year. Mansfield candy stores said that they already have sold a large number for table decorations and children's gifts.

In addition to chocolate, other Christmas candies are more plentiful this year. The shopper with a sweet tooth has a large variety to choose from.

Old fashioned ribbon candy, various mixtures of hard candy, and red and green mints in Santa Claus and Christmas tree shapes are being displayed in windows and candy cases this year.

Red and white candy cane, which have come to be almost a symbol of Christmas, are available again this year in all sizes for trimming the Christmas tree or to put in children's stockings.

Small candy canes, measuring about four inches long, are selling at the price of three for 10 cents. The larger ones cost as much as 25 cents each.

Mansfielders who want to give a gift of candy in a novel package will find what they're looking for in Mansfield candy stores. Containers shaped like jolly Santa Clauses, Christmas trees, and chimneys hold a variety of Christmas candies.

10,000 Communists Spearheading Drive Against Nanking

Artillery Leveling Outposts

Conflicting Claims Made

BULLETIN

NANKING —(AP)— The Chinese communist radio reported tonight red forces had completed "an air-tight encirclement" of the nationalist former Suchow Garrison of 110,000 troops in the developing battle for Nanking.

★

By PETER LIC

NANKING, — (INS)—Chinese communists today hurled a spearhead of 10,000 troops at Kiangyan, only 70 miles northeast of Nanking in the first major effort to blast the Nationalist defense line before the capital.

Reports from the battlefront said that communist artillery has already levelled towns on the periphery of the Kiangyan defense bastion.

Government sources said that nationalist troops are still clinging to the inner defenses of the city.

Powerful government reinforcements were said to be rushing to the defense of Kiangyan from Yang Chow, 30 miles to the west.

Loss of Kiangyan would permit the red troops under Gen. Li Yu to penetrate to Yangtze, only 50 miles north of Nanking.

Earlier, the communists had claimed capture of two other towns on Nanking's northern approaches.

The nationalists, however, countered with an assertion that red troops had been thrown into retreat from Kuchen, 120 miles northwest of Nanking.

CLAIMS CONFLICT

The conflicting claims left neutral observers with the impression that the communist threat to the capital still was growing as the huge battle raged on the Anhwei plains stretching up from the lower Yangtze.

Despite some indications of an easing of the official tension in Nanking, there was an inclination on the part of foreign military experts to discount optimistic nationalist reports.

The communist radio declared the rail towns of Yweiying and Hweian, respectively 110 and 90 miles above Nanking, had fallen to the attacking red forces of Gen. Chen Yi.

If true, this would mean a grave threat to the rear of Pengpu, 100 miles northwest of Nanking and the last major junction above Pukow, the capital's Yangtze river terminus at the end of the railroad from Tientsin.

Nationalist sources said communist troops under command of the one-eyed General Liu Po-Cheng, on the west wing of the front, had begun to withdraw from the Kuchen area.

The nationalists said Kuchen had been recaptured from the reds and that the latters' retreat showed signs of becoming a "total rout."

Foreign observers however expressed belief the reported communist troop movements in the Kuchen sector may signify merely a regrouping of the red forces for a concentrated drive on Nanking along the Tientsin-Pukow railroad.

Garage Fire Damage Set At $7,500

War Surplus Goods Destroyed

A rubbish fire fanned by high winds set a four car garage at 595 Bowman street on fire shortly after noon today damaging or destroying approximately $7,500 worth of war surplus goods stored in the building.

Joseph Freedman, proprietor of Joe's Surplus store, 305 North Mulberry street, estimated the damage at close to $7,500.

He said he had stored material in three of the four stalls at the garage, renting the space from the Huff Realty company.

Firemen said the blaze started when flames from a rubbish fire in a can three feet from the building ignited the structure, causing considerable damage to the building as well as the stored material.

Freedman said the property was not insured. He said he rented the garage because his basement becomes flooded during heavy rain and he did not want to take a chance on having the goods damaged.

He claimed that repeated requests to the city officials to correct the flooding conditions have gone unanswered.

Firemen from the Central and No. 2 stations answered the call at 12:55 p. m.

Output Of Steel Hits New Record

1,800 Tons Are Produced In Week

CLEVELAND, —(AP)—An all-time high in steel production last week was reported today by the magazine Steel.

"The equivalent of 1,804,300 net tons of ingots and castings were produced, passing the previous all-time high of 1,791,700 tons made during the week of November 13," the magazine said.

No major price change was reported in the steel markets, steel reported.

Substantial carryovers of mill tonnage into the first quarter of 1949 were predicted by Steel.

"The 81st congress will probably be asked to extend the Voluntary Allocation law, and at the same time to grant the president mandatory powers in event the program breaks down, or in case of emergency," Steel said.

Scrap and pig iron supplies continued to improve although demands from the foundry trade are somewhat less pressing, Steel said.

"Some observers think a buyers' market in castings is definitely here with castings salesmen beating the bushes for business."

New production facilities and the modernization of old ones will lead to new peacetime production records, Steel said.

"Ingot production this year will total around 88,700,000 tons, about 1,000,000 tons less than the record wartime year of 1944. Since 1938, steelmaking capacity has been increased 17.5 per cent or 14,000,000 tons."

SOLE WINNER COSTLY

CLEVELAND — (AP) — It cost the Cuyahoga Republican party $165,013 — an all-time high for the county organization — for a single winner in the November election. An expense account filed with the board of elections by the campaign committee also revealed a $15,000 deficit in campaign funds.

Excitement's Too Much for Father At Birth of His Sixth

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The excitement of becoming a father for the sixth time was too much for George Armstrong.

When doctors told Armstrong he had become the father of a daughter, he began telephoning relatives. Just then nurses wheeled a cart down the hall past the telephone Armstrong was using.

"There goes Pauline (Mrs. Armstrong) now," Everett Watters, a friend, called to Armstrong.

The proud father followed the cart to a room. After the mother had been put to bed, Armstrong held her hand and soothed her brow. He stayed in the room about 15 minutes, waiting for his wife to come out from under the anesthetic. The he stepped out of the room.

"You can see your wife now," a nurse told Armstrong.

"My wife," Armstrong replied, "is in that room. I've been with her."

"Oh no," said the nurse, "your wife is still in the delivery room."

Then another man stepped up and said:

"That's my wife in that room."

The mixed-up Armstrong then went to the delivery room to join his wife.

"There's no excuse for what happened," he said. "Never happened in five times before. Guess I was just too excited."

Scan Weak Spots In Social Security

SOME REVISION of what is called "social security" is practically assured during the next session of Congress and present discussion centers around what changes had best be made to serve the intended purposes of this experiment.

Monthly payments to beneficiaries under the present schedules are obviously too low to provide anything like "security" for those who are dependent on this source of income, nor are all workers covered by the law.

According to Oscar R. Ewing, federal security administrator, "Hundreds of thousands of aged men and women are suffering slow starvation because of the meagerness of present benefits."

Mr. Ewing is reported to favor approximate doubling of old-age and survivor benefits rather than the increase of "at least 50 per cent" which President Truman called for in his special message to Congress last May.

While it is not intended that benefits enable recipients to live sumptuously, the general idea is that this monthly income should assure decent subsistence to those who retired after many years of steady employment, and, in case of death, to their families. This has not been accomplished and it is "insecurity," rather than "security," that is being experienced by those aged persons who have no other source of income.

High prices of essential commodities have added greatly to the troubles of social security beneficiaries, and it is proposed that a degree of flexibility in payments might be advantageous, to take care of upward and downward trends in living costs.

It is estimated that 35 million workers are now covered by social security, with more than 2,200,000 drawing benefits under the program. It is Mr. Ewing's suggestion that 20 million more workers be added to those now participating, including farm workers, domestic help, self-employed, employes of non-profit organizations, men in the armed forces, and government employes—federal, state and local.

The present tax rate, which covers current outlays and provides some excess, is considered insufficient to build an actuarially sound fund for future needs, a point that must be considered either in raising present benefits or expanding the system.

Democracy Can Present Stronger Case

WALTER E. MYER, director of the Civic Education Service in Washington, speaking in Atlantic City to a gathering of teachers, claimed that doing away with ignorance about communism would remove its danger. He said:

"In a comparison of communism and American democracy, the advantages are so much on our side that the communist appeal will be ineffective. If a man or a nation has a good cause, truth is the most powerful defender."

The speaker urged the application of stronger emphasis on current problems in the planning of programs. Real study of today's conflicts would bring about sufficient enlightenment to enable the students to challenge communist propaganda with intelligence as well as with patriotic fervor. Science teachers were urged to become expert on the facts of atomic energy, also needed for a better-informed student body.

Getting at the facts underlying any situation is a primary requisite to dealing with it. Another element is needed, however. Enthusiasm for the spiritual values of the American way of life may be inspired, too, by the right kind of teaching, and might be found more effective against the fervor of communists than would a barrage of cold facts without it.

Young Children Disregard Danger

FAILURE to recognize danger is a common trait among young children, as was tragically demonstrated Saturday afternoon when a 6-year-old Mansfield girl lost her life by thoughtlessly running in front of an approaching automobile.

This sorrowful occurrence gives emphasis to the importance of parents impressing on their children the need for constant vigilance in "looking up and down the street" before attempting to cross, or leaving a place of safety while at play.

It also serves to impress upon motorists the responsibility of driving with extreme care in residential areas where excessive speed is sometimes common, as the experience of causing the death or injury of a child or adult is one that would result in a life-time of horrifying recollection.

Third Class Mail Lags On Way

TIMELY advice by Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford is to use 3-cent stamps instead of 1½ cent ones in mailing Christmas greeting cards, in order to make sure of prompt delivery.

An experience in connection with slow delivery of third class mail (1½ cent postage) reveals the difference in a convincing way. Last week-end two pieces of mail reached this desk from Cleveland—one postmarked Nov. 16 and the other postmarked Nov. 19—having thus required more than two weeks for transmission, whereas an additional 1½ cents postage on each would have brought them through the day after mailing.

So, if you're planning to use 1½ cent stamps on any greetings intended for Christmas maybe you'd better mail them last week.

As a Kansas City Star's paragrapher explains it: "The reason the average man spends so much on clothes is that his wife insists on his buying a necktie so he won't be mad at her for getting a mink coat."

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Business Foresees No Radical Course

"THINGS don't seem as bad as they really are." This was the consensus of comment in and around various businessmen's early December meetings in New York.

There was no lack of evidence that the first impact of Truman's unexpected victory had stunned the business community. Then followed a period of peering amid the clouds for streaks of light and comfort. Finally, the will to work "as usual" emerged. The attitude was: "It will only be more of the same. It can't be worse."

No one seemed to minimize the threats ahead of the management and investment interests. Officers of various organizations were explicit in their advice to members.

They pointed out that a President has been re-elected who campaigned on an anti-big business theme, who promised more controls, more spending, more taxes and the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Also, that despite some reassurances from Washington, there are may new and old members of Congress who will press for the fulfillment of those promises.

It was pointed out that the President's assurance that he is not against business must be taken in the same sense that Roosevelt used in saying the same thing. In short, that the President will do what he thinks is good for business and not what business thinks is good for itself.

It was, however, in the intangibles that business found reassurance: The dominant Truman advisers are not radical. Nourse and Snyder are middle-of-the-road people. Prices and cost of living are easier. The budget, unless great increases in defense and European aid are authorized, can be balanced. And there are enough suvivors in Congress who voted for tax reduction and the Taft-Hartley Act to check any serious reversals of policy.

The reassuring statements of prospective Ways and Means Chairman Doughton and Appropriations Chaiman Cannon were definitely intended to quiet business worries, and they were well received.

* * *

Faulty Tactics Claimed.

THERE was, among the men who attended these meetings, great interest in the forthcoming Hoover report on the organization of the executive branch of the federal government.

Sources close to the Hoover Commission indicated that the savings to be anticipated if the recommendations of the report were adopted would be $2,000,000,000 or $3,000,000,000 a year. This is good news for taxpayers, but a lot of taxpayer pressure on Congress will be necessary to get the recommendations into law. This will be one of the major problems of business organizations in the next 12 months.

There was plenty of comment on the campaign and the election among these business leaders. It must be recorded that there was a definite disposition to assign to Dewey the role of the Grand Exalted Goat of the disaster. This is hotly contested by people close to Dewey, who say that the distinction should go to the 80th Congress. This controversy will certainly break into print before long.

Businessmen who have been loyal Republicans and party contributors are discouraged in the future of their party as a savior. There was some talk about future candidates, and Stassen's name was frequently mentioned.

One notable remark was that it is time that business ceased putting its faith in a party. This comment was, in effect, "Work with what you have. Develop public sentiment for your right to serve. Support good candidates for Congress and learn how to work with congressional committees which affect your business." This, it would seem, is good advice for the next year or so.

Mr. Truman's Experts

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — President Truman has the word of his three economic experts that we seem to be doing a little better.

They have told him some prices are "flattening out" a bit and don't seem to be "jumping through the ceiling."

But who are the experts? How'd they get that way? And how do they know how we're doing?

These three men, with long and wide experience in economics, make up the President's Council of Economic Advisers:

Edwin G. Nourse, 65-year-old chairman of the council; Leon H. Keyserling, 40; and John D. Clark, 64.

Pretty soon you'll be hearing more about them or, at least, about the work they're doing.

As soon as the new Congress comes in next January Mr. Truman will start pelting it with reports on our economic condition.

And a lot, if not all, of what he'll say on that subject will have been whipped up by his three advisers.

Like three doctors, they're getting paid $15,000 a year each—to diagnose the nation's economic chills and fever.

If medicine is needed, like price control or higher taxes or less government spending, they're supposed to know and tell Mr. Truman.

While he doesn't have to take their advice, you can be sure he does, in big part. His cabinet members can pour their ideas into his ear, too.

Mr. Truman asked Nourse a week ago to work with his cabinet in drawing up an anti-inflation program to offer Congress.

But no one in the government has as much all around information as these three advisers, nor as much chance to gather it.

* * *

All Are Experienced.

ALL THREE have been up to their necks in economics for years. Keyserling and Clark, besides being economists, are lawyers, too. Clark was also in business and banking. All have taught economics.

Nourse began his teaching back in 1909. He's written books on his specialty. He's one of the country's best-known economists.

Keyserling, after teaching briefly in the early 1930's, came to Washington with the New Deal in 1933. He's done jobs in economics for the government ever since.

Clark started in business in 1907, became a director of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana in 1923, and didn't start teaching until 1931.

How'd they come to get their jobs? Mr. Truman picked them in 1946 when the council was created by Congress to advise the President.

How do they do their jobs? How do they know how the country is doing and where it's going? There are a number of answers.

For one thing, there's the long experience they've had in economics. They keep abreast of what's said and written in the field.

They have a staff of about 200 experts, all trained economists, to help them. One is an expert on prices, another on building, another on international economics, and so on.

The three-man council can draw, and does, on the vast sum of economic information gathered by the government departments, each of which is a storehouse of facts in its own field.

For example: The Federal Reserve Board gathers facts on banking; the treasury department on taxes; the commerce department on business; the Bureau of Labor statistics on living costs, wages, food prices.

Each department has its own staff of experts and the council members can consult with them.

The council also meets four times a year with representatives of the big business, labor and farming organizations. For example:

The National Association of Manufacturers, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the committee for economic development (a business group); the AFL, CIO and the railroad unions; the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the Farmers' Union.

And the council meets during the year with representatives of other groups, such as consumers, parents and teachers, women's clubs, educators, and so on.

All with the idea of finding out how we're doing.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

More Than Guns Needed To Win a War

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to Secretary of State Marshall).

* * *

Washington, D. C.

My Dear General Marshall:

You may possibly recall a conversation I had with you shortly after you became secretary of state in which you talked about the fact that a soldier, in order to fight well, must have the will to fight. Weapons alone, you said, don't make a good soldier.

I remember the conversation most vividly because you talked with such great eloquence and feeling and described various cases during the war when well-trained, well-armed troops did not put their heart into battle because they did not understand why they were fighting.

I have thought of this conversation many times since then. I thought of it a year ago, when traveling through Europe. I had a chance to get acquainted with some of its war-weary people.

And I have thought of it more recently as you have proposed a policy of arming these war-weary people as a bulwark of American defense.

The great majority of the American people, I feel sure, agree with your policy, in principle—as do I. Certainly the friendly countries of Western Europe should be armed against the threat of an invading Red army, and the investment will be more than worth while—if they will fight.

* * *

Europe Wouldn't Fight.

HOWEVER, as you yourself so eloquently indicated, guns are no good unless you have men to fire them. And today I greatly fear the people of Western Europe would not fight.

They would not fight because they are tired of war, because they do not want to see their farms and factories become another battleground, and finally because they do not see enough difference between the aims of Russia and the United States to get in the middle of another great conflagration.

They like the United States. They trust us more than they do Russia. They want to be friendly, and they are reasonably grateful for the Marshall Plan. But their friendship does not go to the extent of fighting.

This does not mean they won't declare war, nor that the generals won't try to lead troops into battle. They will. But generals are worth little without soldiers who follow them, and today the common folks of Western Europe who make up the backbone of any army, just aren't going to follow the generals. They will fade away just as fast as the Belgians, the Dutch and the French faded before Hitler.

I am sure you will find that the intelligence reports of the U. S. Army agree with this.

* * *

Battle of Ideas.

THEREFORE, it seems to me that our problem of defense in Western Europe boils down to the question of inspiring the same will to defend themselves that you and others inspired in the American Army from 1942 to 1945.

Which means that this is a battle of ideas and ideals. Weapons, of course, are necessary. But weapons will only fall into the hands of the Red army if the people of Europe aren't sold on the idea that we Americans are trying to build up a new order for world peace and that they should help us.

Today it remains an undisputable fact that they are not sold. They are not sold partly because they see the same bankers who loaned the money to build up German munitions plants prior to the war, now proposing to turn German steel and chemical and munitions plants back to the same German cartels which ran them during the war.

They see the same American bankers who loaned Germany billions before the war, now acting as our secretary of national defense, as our undersecretary of the army and as our undersecretary of state. And they see them carrying out exactly the same policies in Germany which gave Hitler the chance to convert American loans into a wartime machine.

All the efforts by the Voice of America and by American newspapers to tell the true story of American idealism will come to naught, Mr. Secretary, as long as this situation prevails.

* * *

Consumers Come First.

ON THE other hand, there is a great opportunity in the Ruhr to build for the peace of Europe. The Ruhr is just as important to the economic welfare of all Europe as it is to Germany. Almost every consumer in Europe has a stake in the Ruhr.

And where consumers have a vital interest we, in the United States, have recognized and protected it. That is why we have utility commissions to regulate electric lights and telephone rates. That is why the Interstate Commerce Commission tells the railroad what it can charge for passengers and freight. The consumers' interest is considered more important than the vested interest.

Germany has a vested interest in the Ruhr, but the people of Western Europe have a consumers' interest, and they have the right to put a commission of small nations in control of the Ruhr to look out for that interest.

In Europe, furthermore, the organizations which have done the best job for the consumer are the big Swedish, Danish, British and Norwegian cooperatives. They are efficient organizations, run by skilled executives who understand European business management, and who are not suspect of building up war plants for the future.

If such men, sitting under the jurisdiction of a commission of small nations, operated Ruhr industry, then it would dispel the fears and suspicions of Western Europe. It would cut the ground right out from under Moscow's propaganda.

And it would do much to build up confidence on the part of Europe's man in the street—the man who will have to shoulder the gun—that our foreign policy is not dictated by bankers, but by an unselfish desire to build up the future peace of the world.

I apologize for intruding with these thoughts. I do so only because of your own previous eloquence on the necessity of the will to fight, and because a man as busy as you cannot always mingle with the people who in any army must do the bulk of the fighting.

Yours sincerely,

DREW PEARSON

New Deal No. 2 Sighted

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — The change of atmosphere in this city in the short space of a month — due naturally to what happened November 2 — is worthy of notice for it forecasts the era that is opening just ahead in the second Truman administration — the second New Deal.

There is new vitality in the air, a release of new energy. Or, as one man who spends much time daily visiting government departments and agencies put it: "It looks like the early days of 1933 all over again — back when the New Deal started."

The transformation has been interesting. In the weeks before the election there was a paralyzing uncertainty; for very few, if any, government officials shared the confidence of President Truman that he and his administration would continue.

Among those who worked for the government there prevailed a state of mind akin to that of employes in a private business who hear rumors that the business is going to be sold out from under them.

They wonder if they should begin to look around somewhere else, or take a chance at sticking on in the hope they'll be taken over by the new outfit. It's an uneasy feeling.

Stories went around about government people sneaking from their files endorsements by Democratic politicians and writing back home to see if Republican endorsements might be rounded up so they could hold their jobs.

These stories, as far as the number of cases are concerned, are subject perhaps to the same discount as the stories after the election to the effect that many Republicans, expecting positions in a Republican administration, had leased houses or apartments here. Such stories are amusing — and grow with the telling.

* * *

Civil Service Safeguards.

A CHANGE of administration affects, in reality, a comparatively small number of government people, but they are the ones best known to the public, whose goings and comings are noted, for they are the officials responsible for actions in which the public is interested.

The great bulk of government workers are blanketed under civil service and go on from administration to administration.

For the non-civil service contingent the election was a delightful shock, if that term may be used. Certainty replaced uncertainty.

A few days was needed to enjoy that new feeling of security and to rehash happily the strange election that had brought it. Perhaps nowhere in the country was the election so discussed, analyzed and dissected as here.

The next stage was a sudden realization among officials earnestly devoted to their particular jobs in promoting the public interest that they need no longer be constantly harassed by the fear that Congress might undermine the long-established authority of their agencies—and there are so many more of those earnest, devoted public officials than the carping critics of "bureaucrats" want you to believe. The 80th Congress, under duress from special interests, had whacked away with some success at New Deal reform statutes and agencies.

Officials in charge of those agencies had been anxiously on the defensive. Now they could take the offensive again.

Consequently, there is zest in their work, for they are looking forward once more. So, all over the country, you find people busy with details of the program that the President pledged in his campaign, long-frustrated dreams — expansion of social security; housing, federal aid to health and education; expansion of public power; increase in the statutory minimum wage; revision of the Taft-Hartley labor act; revision of farm programs to meet the mandate of farmers who swung the election to the Democrats.

The second New Deal is beginning. In it there is the joy of creation, and the dynamics of a virile, expanding democracy.

Touch of Fall Beauty

By CALVIN A. BYERS

Occasionally, a gray fall day may be background for an amazing bit of beauty. Sometimes it is only the lines of the hills against amber sky; or the black limbs of some great tree full of a strange strength; or a gorge filled with autumn leaves where a spring trickles out clear and sweet when you clean out the channel.

Down at a neglected pasture corner where cattle still grazed along the eastern fence, and aster canes stood high with bleaching skeletons, and some burdocks had gone to seed, I saw a patch of fresh green bluegrass with blue gentians blowing above it.

The five-petaled flower cups, each on a single stem, were so vividly blue that the color seemed to overflow from the fringed edges and spread bits of blue sky upon the greensward. For an instant I entertained the impulse to dig them up, root and all, and carry them home to my wife as a rare exhibit of bitter herbaceous growth that might add zest to her winter "herb garden." (A few plants in the kitchen window—parsley, thyme, chives, tarragon and walnut geranium.)

But an inner voice whispered Emerson's lines and shamed me for my vagrant thought. "Hast thou loved the wild rose and left it on its stem . . . at rich men's tables eaten bread and pulse, and loved so well a high behavior in man or maid. That thou from speech refrained? O, be my friend, and teach me to be thine."

* * *

THE witch hazel bush bloomed on Thanksgiving Day this year as it did three years ago. The yellow streamers blew in the warm south wind and the gnarled little shrub became a glory of golden color against the drab hill.

On the same branches as the streaming petals were hard-shelled seed pods that exploded when touched and scattered their contents ten feet or more beyond the tree.

The witch hazel has legendary powers of divining water or gold or other subterranean treasure. There is disagreement about the origin of the name. Some think it was confused with the hazel shrub of old England and others say that the word "witch" is derived from an old form meaning pliable or bending . . . such as the common word "switch."

What does it matter? That hunter who came upon the blooming witch-hazel on the sunshiny Thanksgiving day just past must have carried away with him a remembrance of vigor, sprightliness and gold-green beauty that will enrich his future.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

INVESTIGATION of the divorce racket in New York has solved the gift problem for many . . . 9,000 men are getting their old wives back for Christmas.

* * *

Under New York state law it takes two to get married, three to disrupt it, four to dissolve it and a fifth to handle the fees.

* * *

This is one of the few states which will condone anything in marriage except "Who was that lady I framed you with last night?"

* * *

In Russia until recently a man had only to say "You are no longer my wife" and he was free . . . They had to do something to make communism popular.

* * *

Now when a Russian weds it is for life . . . The feeling is that anything less than a life sentence would undermine Soviet justice.

ODD FACT

The Mission church at Acoma, N. M., has walls four to eight feet thick which keep out the cold in winter and the heat in summer.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Hog raising is profitable only when 100 pounds of hog on the hoof will bring the price of 12 bushels or more of corn.

Ohio Public Sentiment Test Factor

Product Appeal Sampled In State

COLUMBUS — The gentlemen Roper, Gallup Crosley and other forecasters of the last political election should take a lesson from manufacturers who test the appeal of new products by using Ohio as the testing ground for public sentiment

According to John R. Advent, executive secretary of the Ohio Development and Publicity Commission, Ohio is being used consistently by many research organizations to test the probable acceptance of new products.

There are five reasons said Advent, why Maine should get the heave-ho as the nation's most publicized barometer of public opinion in favor of Ohio They are

1 Citizens of Ohio have an above average buying power which gives an immediate reaction when a new product is introduced

2 Ohio is the center of the most concentrated industrial activity of any similar area in the world

3 Excellent transportation and distribution facilities make Ohio the logical center for merchandising of retail goods

4 Diversified industry and farming in Ohio assure a consistent, predictable economy.

5 Ohio has excellent coverage by newspapers radio stations motion picture theatres and other advertising and publicity outlets, which gives all possible impetus to a merchandising effort

Testers, such as the Kenyon Research company headed by C W MacKay one time Ohio newspaperman and a graduate of Ohio State university usually use Columbus as the pilot city for a public acceptance campaign Cincinnati is used for the first major sales push and Cleveland and surrounding cities as the expansion and proving territory

GIBSON-CROPPER RITES SOLEMNIZED SUNDAY

Formal Candlelight Ceremony Solemnized at First Methodist Church In Closed Service.

By OLIVE GRESMER

GUESTS attending the Gibson-Cropper nuptials Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist church were enchanted by the atmosphere of traditional elegance and charm as they witnessed the exchange of marriage vows at 4:30 o'clock.

Miss Elizabeth Alvira Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Douglas Gibson, 282 West Fourth street, became the bride of Paul Francois Cropper jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Francois Cropper sr., 468 West Third street.

Five hundred guests were present for the closed candlelight ceremony which was solemnized by Rev. Charles Stoneburner, pastor of the First Methodist church, who was assisted by Rev. Matthew Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church.

One of the most beautifully appointed weddings Mansfielders have seen, the altar was banked with palms and beauty baskets of white chrysanthemums and mums. Six seven branch candelabra illuminated the chancel and altar candles were placed at the end of the arch way to the pulpit. Tall white tapers in a setting of clusters of white mums marked the center aisle for the bridal procession.

A half hour program of nuptial music preceded the single ring service. Mrs. Elsie Ireland presided at the organ and Miss Doris Franck was the vocalist.

In an exquisite gown of deep ivory velvet with little matching bonnet, which held in place her heirloom veil, Miss Gibson approached the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage.

The lovely Princess style gown was fashioned with a low neckline in a heart-shape. The sleeves were attached to the off-the-shoulder line, made leg-o-mutton style, with very tight fitted wrists, fastened with many tiny buttons. The skirt was corded to the front and extended up to the back of the extremely full skirt, styled in a heart-shape. It was tied with a cord of velvet at the low point of the waistline in the back. The gown was made over crinoline hip pads and skirt was worn over a crinoline and swishing taffeta petticoat. Her train was very wide and extremely long.

Completing her ensemble was the small heart-shaped bonnet to which was attached the Belgium brussels rose point lace veil which had been worn by six brides of the Gibson family. Worn under this veil was another full length veil of ivory French illusion. The lace veil was arranged mantilla style over the bonnet and held in place with the bride's family crest, pinned at the back of the bonnet. Her only jewelry was a diamond sunburst.

A tiny velvet muff corded to match the gown held the wedding bouquet of white heather from Scotland and white shattered carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Jane Scott of Akron, who had been a roommate of the bride, when they attended Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., was her maid of honor. Miss Gibson had chosen a matching styled gown for Miss Scott, who was attired in a deep russet shade of velvet. The only variation in style were the elbow length sleeves. She wore a shirred bonnet in a heart-shape to match her long gown. Dainty ostrich tips trimmed the bonnet. She also carried a tiny muff which held her bouquet of bronze mums and yellow mums. Little Vickie Ladu of Armyline, Pa., niece of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Gibson, was flower girl. She wore a like styled gown of honey gold velvet with matching accessories.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gibson chose a floor length blue dress, made with draped front. Her accessories were in brown and she wore a formal hat of feathers with ostrich tips. Completing her costume were green and brown orchids. Mrs. Cropper was attired in a brown floor length dress, made with wide draped bertha of gold cloth. Her accessories were of cloud. Her formal hat was trimmed with bronze veiling and her orchids were of brown and gold.

Serving as best man was James W. McCormick, a close friend of the bridegroom.

Ushering the guests to their pews were George Gernhardt and Robert Marks, both of Mansfield, Jack Hansman of Cleveland, Robert McClarin and Robert Snyder of Youngstown, and Tru Read of Detroit.

Two hundred and fifty guests were received by the bridal party in the ballroom of the Mansfield Leland hotel immediately following the service. The bride's table was set with family silver and crystal. A five layer wedding cake centered the long table which was covered with banquet cloths which belonged to the bride's grandmothers.

Miss Joanne Eichen and Miss Joan Kullman, Mrs. Robert Marks and Mrs. Fred Talcottt presided at the punch bowls. The bride's aunts, Mrs. Charles A. Wood of Sharon, Pa., and Mrs. Russell B. Gibson served the guests. Mrs. Claude V. Marks and Mrs. Paul W. Williams of Dayton presided at the coffee urns. A string trio furnished music during the reception.

When the newlyweds left for a motor trip through the south, the bride wore a bronze slipper satin suit dress with beaded tie fichu, bronze satin slippers and purse and bronze orchids.

After Christmas they will reside at 585 West Third street.

The bride is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and Stephens college, where she received her degree of associated arts. Mr. Cropper was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school, and Wittenberg college, with a B. A. degree. He was affiliated with Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He is a member of the University club, Westbrook Country club and the Slagel Trout club in Michigan. He served three years overseas with the 1121st Engineers' Combat group.

Mrs. Cropper jr., is a former member of the Boston Stock company and was recently employed at the M. O'Neil company. Mr. Cropper is affiliated with the brokerage house of Livingston-Williams and company, Inc.

Out-of-town guests in attendance were from Sharon, Pa., Annville, Pa., Barnesville, Canton, Cleveland, Youngstown, Akron, Columbus, Bucyrus, Ashland, Cincinnati, Athens, Wadsworth, Morgantown, W. Va., and Dayton.

* * *

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gibson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood of Sharon, Pa., uncles and aunts of the bride, entertained with a buffet dinner for 40 guests, following rehearsal by the bridal party. James McCormick, who served as best man for Mr. Cropper, entertained Friday evening at a bachelor dinner for 25 at the Fairway. A spinster dinner was held the same evening by Mrs. McCormick at her home, 396 Linden road. Twelve were present for an informal evening.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, December 7
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A STUBBORN obstacle, some static condition, may give zest or challenge to very constructive manipulation, which initiative and aggressive action may break up the congestion and eventually yield rich and lasting progress.

Timely aid from friendly sources may be counted upon, but shrewd analysis, profound promise or readjustments are in order.

Personal affairs thrive and there may be encouragement for social festivities.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a progressive year, with definite headway in breaking up static conditions or stubborn obstacles. This, by force of sound preparation, clear-thinking and long-range plans, in which it may be necessary to change tactics, make adjustments or perhaps make friendly efforts for needed assistance from influential sources.

A child born on this day may be ambitious, capable and resourceful, although studious and introspective.

MEETING TONIGHT

The degree team of the Pocahontas lodge will meet tonight at 7:30 p. m. for a Christmas gift exchange at the home of Mrs. Claude Phipps, 143 Hedges street.

SORORITY MEETING

Delta Theta chapter of Delta Theta Tau will meet tonight at 8 p. m. at the YMCA.

"THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS"—Mary Blair, brilliant "inspirational" artist for Disney films, has created this nostalgic Christmas eve scene. Mrs. Blair is among the group of outstanding women painters whose works are reproduced on this year's cards.

"GIRL IN THE MAGENTA COAT"—This is one of the featured paintings on this year's yuletide greetings created by one of the nation's top feminine painters, Miss Catherine Barnes. Miss Barnes is widely recognized as an outstanding young illustrator of children's books.

NO EASY CHOICE—Mrs. N. J. Longshore, 589 Crescent road, is shown selecting her Christmas cards at one of Mansfield's leading display counters. There was a time when card enthusiasts had difficulty in finding one which pleased them, but now the choice is equally difficult because all the cards are so pleasing.

Nation's Top Feminine Artists Create Yuletide Greeting Cards

By MARIAN WEST

WITH the yuletide season in full swing, Mansfield is no different from any other city in the United States. A steady stream of shoppers are filling the stores hunting gifts and Christmas cards. And your selection of cards is better this season than it has been since pre-war years, according to Mansfield merchants.

Ever since the first Christmas cards appeared on the holiday scenes—a little over a century ago—feminine tastes and fancies have strongly influenced the creation of these perennial Merry Christmas messengers. This is true largely because women do the selecting of the average family's yuletide greetings.

This year, however, women are playing important roles as the creators as well as the buyers of Christmas cards. Seventeen outstanding American and European women artists and illustrators are among the 50 foremost painters whose works appear this year on the cards published by various companies.

The distaff side is represented with some of the important names in contemporary art. Grandma Moses, beloved 88-year-old painter of rural scenes in primitive style, heads the list of American women painters whose works are being made available on Christmas cards. Several of Grandma's most popular paintings, "Winter Is Here," "Church Christmas Tree," and "Sugaring Off," are included.

Cards depicting the atmosphere of a metropolitan Christmas in New York have been painted by Fanny Holtzmann, famed international lawyer, whose talented brush contributes some lifelike Central Park skating scenes, and by Esther Goetz, whose painting portrays Christmas in Washington Square.

Other feminine artists' cards highlight the joy of children at Christmas time. One series by Alice Schlesinger, of Indiana, pictures gay and cherubic children celebrating such important yuletide events as "Window Shopping" and "Christmas Morning."

Catherine Barnes, well known illustrator of children's books, has contributed full color interpretations to illustrate a card bearing the classic poem, "The Night Before Christmas." Mary Blair, key mood artist for Walt Disney films, offers a number of winter scenes from recent Disney movies.

It was Kate Greenway, ultra-feminine artist of the 1880's, who pioneered women's important place in greeting-card art. Kate's renditions of the wistful artistic subject matter so dear to the hearts of Victorian ladies gave tremendous impetus to greeting-card art with the feminine touch, for most of her work was done for Marcus Ward, first publisher to offer cards in attractive box assortments.

Marie Laurencin, one of France's leading modern artists, has done a delicate and charming water color called "The Ballet Scene." Lauren Ford has painted a traditional Madonna and Child, but her background is that of a New England farm at Christmastime. "Santa Claus Skating" is a fine example of Saul Steinberg's delightfully humorous pan-and-ink drawings. Lucille Corcos gives us a cross-section of holiday preparations in her "Night Before Christmas."

"Vegetable Garden," by Vincent Van Gogh, a post-impressionist painter well known for his striking landscapes, has vivid use of color. One with a Christmas sprite is easily recognized as the creation of Marcel Vertes, muralist, illustrator and designer of ballet sets and costumes.

A rich, tapestry-like card called "Christmas Caravel," was adapted from a sixteenth century Spanish engraving by Ruth Reeves, noted textile artist. An etching from "Miserere et Guerre," by Georges Rouault shows both the strength and compassion which can be found in all of his work.

Friends Learn Of Engagement

Announcement was made of the engagement of Mrs. Pauline Yeager Sturgeon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Yeager, 216 Gerke avenue, to William C. Ruby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ruby, 139 East Liberty street, Ashland, at a miscellaneous shower Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Glen Lanning, jr., 50 Baldwin avenue.

Mrs. Lanning was assisted by Mrs. Ben Worley and Mrs. Joe Beck. Contests were played by the 12 guests present and prizes were won by Mrs. Elmer Burson, Mrs. Jack Ruby, Mrs. Naomi Kochieser, the honoree, Mrs. Mary Nail and Mrs. Yeager.

Blue and silver stars formed the decorative scheme. A bridal doll and candles centered the table from which refreshments were served.

Covering the Younger Set

Just Ask Ann

Shine up those Christmas balls, pick the holly, sweep the chimney and get set to help Santa shake the soot out of his whiskers. Gather up the nicest gals and guys you know and stage a Christmas party.

The best time for this holiday revelry is the night before Christmas when everyone is in that mellow peace-to-all mood. Invite the gang to your house for a tree-trimmin' party. This is lots of fun, marks the beginning of the Yule season and gets the ornaments on the tree before you can say Donner and Blitzen.

Go all out for the occasion if you like. Wear one red and one green sock, small jingle bells in your hair, holly berries on your dress.

Put the mistletoe in a prominent place. Christmas eve is not an evening for games but you can find plenty of amusement just sitting around the fireplace and waiting for Santa Claus!

* * *

If you haven't already organized your sewing basket to perform miracles for you this Christmas, get busy girls. You'll be the most popular under the mistletoe when the boys see their handmade Yule gifts. The boys will "oooh" and "aaah" your handicraft. And think of all the money you'll save! Such things as tea aprons, stoles, a ribbon book cover, for the bookworm friends, clothes hangers, hand-knit socks, and in case you're inclined to take up the artistic side, a portrait of his "one and only" will be appreciated by the best beau. If he's interested in the sea, give him a landscape. . . .

* * *

Rumors have it that Beverly Shipley is planning to start at Ohio State university in February. . . . Marcene Roberts is now putting in her time working at the hospital in the office. . . . Shirley Lay has put her talent to good use. She is teaching baton twirling at the Ethyl Battin Dance academy. . . . Elsie Kinkel is doing "okay" at Greenbrier college. She was named to the dean's list for the first quarter. Greenbrier is in Lewisburg, W. Va.

* * *

Term grades, Monday. Enough said. . . . Saturday night the annual football party was in full swing at Bernie Weaver's barn. The name given it this year is "Big Bruisen Bernie's Barn Brawl." Quite an illiteration you have there. . . . A few of the couples who were there are Louie Gregorio and Anne Shawber, Harry Osbun and Pat Jackson, Monk Russell and Meredith Nail, A. C. Jenkins and Carolyn Lee and Joe Miller and Katherine Beattie. . . . The final struggle to get all the class dues paid is on. . . .

* * *

Ach, es ist kalt. At least the German band that played at the choir assembly the other day thought so. They were attired in short green corduroy trousers, knee socks and the like of a German band. The members of the Polka-Dots are John Corcoran, Eugene Griesbach, Jim Skeen, Tom Pankow, Jim Kibler and Jack Dillon. . . . The details are missing, but Anita King has cracked her elbow. She is now sporting a nice white sling. . . .

* * *

My, that telegraph office is far away. Rosemary Ramsey will agree, too. It took her a whole day to go and send a telegram so it was just impossible for her to be at school. . . . Rod Blahnik was home for a few days from the navy. He looked real sharp in his bell bottom trousers, too. . . . Pat Sharrock and Dave Stanton have made it a date for the Rainbow formal. . . .

* * *

Betty LaYacona is doing all right with Ashland. She has passed "Tharpie" by and is planning to attend the Delta Sigma Zeta sorority formal at Christmas with Jack Boeh. What power do Ashland fellows have over MHS girls? . . . Good start, good finish. The basketball team got off to a good start so they'll naturally have to finish up the same way—with a winning score.

Oven Days Are Here

Baking days—cool, brisk, stimulating—are her again! The fragrance of homemade rolls, of spicy drop cookies, of chocolate cakes and gingerbread all blend to tell us that it is baking day in the kitchen. Here are some baking day "dos" that will make for the success of your efforts:

Use tested recipes from a reliable source.

Follow recipe measurements and methods accurately.

Use standard measuring spoons and cups. Keep measurements level.

Always sift flour before measuring, when flour is used in breads, cakes, cookies or similar products.

Use size of baking dish recommended for recipe.

Know your oven. If oven is not equipped with a temperature control, use a standard oven thermometer.

Preheat your oven to recommended temperature.

Some baking day favorites for these crisp days are given here:

CINNAMON CRUNCHIES

1 cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
⅓ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons milk
¼ teaspoon vanilla

1 egg white
3 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup corn soya shreds

Sift together dry ingredients. Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; stir in egg yolk, milk and vanilla. Add dry ingredients gradually and mix well. Spread in ungreased pan, about 7 by 11 inches.

Beat egg white slightly and spread over top of dough. Combine remaining ingredients and sprinkle over top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Cut into bars while still warm.

Yield: 12 bars (1½ by 2 inches.)

PUDDING SAUCE

Butter Hard Sauce for Plain Puddings:—The rich, buttery flavor of hard sauce makes it a natural for Brown Betty or other hot puddings. Work ½ cup butter to a soft cream with a fork, add gradually 1 cup powdered sugar, moistening the mixture with about 2 tablespoons milk. Beat with a fork to a fluffy mass, flavor as desired and chill before serving.

All England Not Against General Eisenhower's Book, Paper Claims

MEMOS OF A GIRL FRIDAY

Dear Mr. W.: London Daily Telegraph called. Said not all Londoners feel that way about Gen. Eisenhower's book. They are sending rave review about it as it ran in London Telly. Also the "rap" ran in the Sunday Times, not The London Times—not same people. . . . It's a boy for the commentator John Vandercooks at N. Y. hospital. (Mama is former Iris Flynn, actress). . . . Hear some of Bea Lillie's silverware is missing from her flat. Saw nothing yet in papers.

Elliot Roosevelt demanded separate chex when Johnny Myers bought a drink. . . . "I've had enough of his expense accounts!" he screamed. . . . I wouldn't buy any Televistations, if I were you. Understand NBC is losing $13,000 daily on theirs.

Don't insist upon the source, please, but the "real reason" behind Graziano's "runout" on the California bout is allegedly this: Rocky was approached by gamblers who demanded he take a dive "or else."

He was afraid to report this episode as he drew a suspension the last time for reporting the the same thing in New York. Anyway, there it is, the way it was given to me.

"Bravo!" cast and management thank you for the help. They tell me playgoers find it really entertaining. Watts in Post called it a "warm and nourishing comedy studded with humor." Geo. J. Nathan said: "It entertained me a heap more than some theoretically more polished ones' ....That reminds me, Mr. Nathan (in this Journal-American essay Monday) used "prattfalls," which is also in all of Mencken's "American Language" books. But when we try to use it in the Mirror—it's always jerked. (Ed. note: Huh?) ....Did you send Mr. Mencken a wire at Johns Hopkins Hosp., Baltimore? He was mighty generous in his latest edition, when he described the frauds "who try to wear the Winchell ermine."

How long can an identification be? Thomas K. Finletter is listed as "American Minister in charge of the Economic Cooperation Administration Mission to the United Kingdom"!....

M. Berle, who never failed anyone yet, says he will be glad to emcee the Dec. 26 Roney-Plaza event for the Runyon Fund. The committee, by the way, assumes you are turning the coi over to the U. of Florida; at least a good chunk of it

Hope you heard the Bing and Groucho programs. Very gay and breezy. Funny guyz.....Capt. Y. Wayland led only 300 men and women of this village (Negba) against the Egyptian force of 2,000 infantry and 24 tanks, and won! He also stood off Farouk's troops, who fired 30,000 shells! He says the Jewish casualties were mainly in hand-to-hand combat because the Egyptians bit them. They use their teeth, no bayonets.

Many of World's Greatest Artists Treasured Cats, Columnist Claims

By GEORGE TUCKER (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK—Have you got a grudge against cats? You'd better get rid of it.

It indicates a lack of discrimination that will forever bar you from the company of great popes, kings, philosophers, writers, composers and leaders of men who have loved these charming creatures down through the centuries.

The Chinese are very blunt about it. They say people who dislike cats are really rats in another incarnation.

I wouldn't go that far, but I do recommend that you familiarize yourself with the influence cats have exercised on the lives of great men and women.

Mohammed had a cat. Its name was Muezza. The French poet Loti wrote that he never really understood Mohammed's compassion and greatness until he understood his relationship to this animal. Often the cat went to sleep on his robes. Mohammed always called for scissors and cut away the hem or the sleeve or whatever part of the robe the cat had chosen, rather than disturb him.

Edgar Allan Poe, Lafcadi Hearn, Pope Leo XII, Henry James, Thomas Hardy and Samuel Butler were celebrated cat lovers.

Pope Leo often presented kittens to his friends and once gave a great black and red cat to Chateaubriand, who bragged in print, "he was born in the Vatican...he is called Micetto, and he is surnamed 'the Pope's Cat'...".

Antinio Sacchini, the Italian composer, wrote operas with his favorite cats sitting on his shoulder, and Henry James, the writer, worked the same way.

It is worth noting that the Bible fails to mention cats a single time. But considering the Scriptural judgment on dogs, the cats probably are lucky. The Bible castigates dogs, mentioning them 44 times and always with contempt. This must cause some frustration in dog lovers who accept every word of the scriptures as literal.

The British writer Michael Joseph, who has written several marvelous books about cats, suggests that failure of biblical author's to mention cats is due probably to reluctance to say anything favorable about the Egyptians, enslavers of the Jews, who had deified cats.

Joseph tells of a cat that once lived at St. Paul's cathedral in London. She would drag her progeny over and under pews, and sometimes sat with the choir during services.

Gautier, Baudelaire, Zola, Byron and Dumas were others who openly delighted in the company of cats.

Gautier had many kittens, but he lived in the Paris of famine-stricken days and they gradually disappeared, one by one, as his hungry countrymen caught and ate them.

How shrewd was the essayist Montaigne when he asked, "when I play with my cat who knows whether she amuses herself with me, or I with her?"

In more recent times the actor James Mason has made cats a cult and has delighted people from Britain to the 48 United States with his tales and reminiscences of their behavior. He will not travel without them. This recalls Florence Nightingale, who owned more than a half hundred of the animals and would go nowhere without them.

Seeks Funds For OSR Hospital

State Hopeful Work Can Be Done

State welfare department officials are trying to work out a plan for building the proposed Mansfield reformatory hospital, although bids exceeded the appropriation set up for the project.

Charles L. Sherwood, director of the State Department of Welfare, told The News-Journal today an attempt was being made to go ahead with the proposed hospital, either by using unexpended monies in other funds or by asking the legislature for an additional appropriation.

The special session of the state assembly meeting opened today. Sherwood said he did not know when a decision would be reached.

Bids for the three-story, 70-bed hospital exceeded the estimate by $133,946.

The state's overall estimate totaled $330,918. The low bids totaled $464,144.

Low bidders included Mountaineer Construction company, Pittsburgh, general construction, bid, $354,233; Charles Hoffman company, Mansfield, plumbing and heating, $79,121; Buchman Electric construction, Mansfield, electrical work, $12,633; and Westinghouse corporation of Cleveland, elevators, $16,156.

Top Citizen To Be Named

Mansfield's honor citizen will be selected at a meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Boy Scout office, Gerald Dent, Jaycee coordinator for the Honor Citizen committee, announced today.

The winner will be presented a diamond studded pin and introduced to the audience at the 11th edition of "The Best Is Yet to Come," on Dec. 21 at Johnny Appleseed junior high school.

Nominations for the award can be made by representatives of civic groups which serve on the Honor Citizen committee, of any Mansfielder who cares to submit a nomination.

The award is presented to persons who have helped others without receiving or hoping to receive any reward or recognition, Dent said. Persons with prospective nominees were asked to contact Dent at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

The Honor Citizen pin will be displayed in the window of Culp Brothers Jewelry store, along with pictures of past Honor Citizens. Ralph Chapman, of the YMCA, won last month's award.

John Hasenzahl Dies In Arizona

DOCTORS OF HARMONY—This foursome, part of the "Parade of Quartets" that performed before 2,000 persons here Saturday night, does some informal harmonizing at a party following the program. The "Afterglow" was attended by performers, their families, and friends. The Doctors of Harmony are from Elkhart, Ind., and won the international barbershop singing championship last year. From left to right: "Jumbo" Smith, tenor, "Junior" Cripe, lead, "Reverend" Kidder, bass, and "Butch" Hummel, baritone.

'Messiah' Opens City Yule Music Season

By NITA BRANSON

Handel's Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah," provided an auspicious opening last night for Mansfield's season of Christmas music.

The "Christmas section" of the famous musical work was presented in the First Presbyterian church by the Mansfield Choral Society.

Before a crowded sanctuary, a chorus of 40 voices presented Handel's magnificent version of the Old Testament prophecy of the coming of the Lord, with reverent, understanding interpretation.

Chorus work under the direction of J. Frederick Wolf was expertly done and the solo parts, both recitative and airs, had a moving, devout appeal.

Particularly gripping were the last two airs, "He Shall Feed His Flock" and "Come Unto Him" sung by Miss Erma Jenkins, alto, and Miss Beverly Wentz, soprano. The two parts, among the better known arias from "The Messiah" were a fitting preparation for the sweeping, climactic notes of the "Hallelujah chorus for which the audience stood.

Other soloists besides Miss Wentz and Miss Jenkins were Paul Old and Harry Meier, well-known Mansfield bases, and Lewis Girton of Galion, who possesses a fine tenor voice. Miss Louise Krause was organist for the performance.

PASTOR PRESIDES

Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of the church, gave the invocation, the offertory prayer and the benediction.

Mansfield singers, besides the solosists who took part in last night's presentation were Beverly Binsack, Jane Brook, Marcene Dickson, Glenna Ferrell, Mabel Greer, Thurza Hazeltine, Maric Kozminski, Betty Murray, Betty Pagnard, Joan Solomon, Beverly Wesson and Margaret Whitcomb, sopranos;

Mary Anglin, Naomi Carr, Janet Dickson, Marilyn Heuss, Eleanor Homerick, Dorothy Nichols, Lucile Resor, Mary Smith, Zella Smith, Joyce Swaney, Dorothy Tingley and Lois Traxler, altos;

David Dickson, David Gregg, John Klinger, Aurthur Schnittke, Paul Smith, John Smucker and Howard Tittelbaugh, tenors;

Roger Caskey, Ralph Dickson, John Grabler, Darrell Nichols, Gloyd Resor, and Paul Tapper, basses.

Mr. Anderson was a retired employe of the Ideal Electric company.

He is survived by his wife, Belle; five sons, James, Alexander, Robert, Alfred and Richard, and two daughters, Miss Catherine Anderson and Mrs. Joseph Them, all of Mansfield, a brother, Alexander, of Texas, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of the Wappner funeral home.

Death Takes Karl Burggraf

KARL BURGGRAF, 78, of 353 Bowman street, died at his home yesterday morning after a lingering illness.

He was born in Switzerland Sept. 26, 1870, and came to Mansfield 68 years ago.

Mr. Burggraf was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church and Richland Lodge No. 161, IOOF.

He is survived by his wife, Christina, and four nephews, all of Mansfield.

Rev. John G. Gensel, pastor of St. Paul's church will conduct funeral services at the Wappner funeral home at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home until time of services.

Mrs. Swineford Stricken at 79

Services will be held at the Gilbert funeral home in Ashland at 2 p.m. Tuesday for Mrs. Kathryn Swineford, 79, of 223 Cline avenue, Mansfield, a former Ashland resident, who died Sunday morning at a Columbus hospital. Rev. Harold H. Lentz, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, will officiate and burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

Mrs. Sineford, born in Ashland county March 12, 1869, had lived there until three years ago when she came to reside with her son, George S. Swineford in Mansfield. She was a member of Trinity Lutheran church.

Greet New Commander

Legion Officials Meet In Columbus

Commander John Echelberry of O'Brien American Legion post at Shelby joined other Ohio Legionnaires in welcoming the new national Legion commander in Columbus over the week end.

National Commander Perry S. Brown of Texas was guest of honor at the annual commanders' and adjutants' conference in Columbus.

Brown stressed that the nation must be adequately prepared at all times to defend itself against enemies of our government from within as well as outside of our land.

Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, who spoke Sunday said Russia can't be dealt with as other nations in Europe because Russia stems from the Orient. The continuing consciousness by Russia of our striking power is the only thing that prevents Russia's attempt to start another world conflict, he added.

"Only through world government and our help in raising the standards of living of European countries and possibly China can we hope to stem this tide of communism. To maintain her great military strength, Russia now has the lowest standard of living of any country except China," he stated.

The executive committee of the Ohio American Legion went on record as favoring the sale of three large government-owned housing projects to the veterans now living in them.

The projects are located in Cincinnati, Greenbelt, Md., and Greendale, Wis. Veterans occupy them on a non-profit basis.

Optimists To Hear Lecture On Japan

The Optimist club will hear a lecture accompanied by color slides on "Japan Today" at its weekly meeting Wednesday noon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. The lecture will be delivered by R. J. Senger.

Frank Goldsmith and Tom Schacher are in charge of the program.

Up and Down the Street . . .

BRIGHT HOLIDAY—

Mansfield Christmas trees should be well lighted this year. For the first time since the war, Mansfield merchants are offering a variety of electric Christmas lights and plenty of extra bulbs. Not only are the regular strings of lights available, but Mansfielders can buy more modern Christmas decorations such as electric bulbs that appear to bubble when they are lighted.

★

STILL OPEN—

It's not too late to "get in the swim." Miss Dorothy Hainer, business and industrial girls' secretary of the YWCA, said today that registration for YWCA-sponsored women's swimming classes is still open. There is room for more women in both the beginning and intermediate classes, she said. The swimming classes got under way last Thursday and will be held twice a month in the Senior high school pool. The next classes will be held Dec. 16. Women who wish to enter the classes should call the YWCA, 4523-6, to register and to apply for medical examinations.

POPULAR EMCEE—

R. O. Richards, a member of the local SPEBSQSA chapter, did the "emceeing" for the Harvest of Harmony program Saturday night at John Simpson junior high school. His performance prompted considerable comment—all favorable. He kept the near-capacity audience in stitches between numbers with a running repartee. Some of his props were a bartender's apron, a beer stein, a black derby, and a five-gallon hat. He even dragged two dogs into the act. Part of his job was introducing the members of the 10 quartets which participated in the SPEBSQSA—sponsored show.

Chatter . . .

Pfc. Paul Collins and Pfc. Max E. Stahl returning to their air bases after a visit with their parents in Bellville. Pfc. Collins has returned to San Angelo, Tex., and Pfc. Stahl to San Rafael, Calif. Both had been stationed at San Antonio, Tex., for a three-month training period.

★

William Calhoun, president of the Richland county Young Democratic club, appointed chairman of county ticket committee for the governor's inaugural ball Jan. 10 in Columbus. Others on the committee are Thomas Hoffman, Mrs. Dorothy Davis, and George Connor.

★

Richard Wappner, member of the firm of the Wappner funeral home, passing his state board examination in embalming. Wappner, who was graduated from the Cleveland School of Embalming, had previously passed his examination as funeral director.

Funeral services and burial will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. at the Williams and Burns funeral home in Gary.

Orchestra Meets Wednesday Night

Members of the Recreation orchestra will meet at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at Senior high auditorium, Stanley Kamen, recreation director, announced today.

Former meeting place of the orchestra was the music room at Johnny Appleseed junior high school.

Motorist Hurt In Crash

Mishaps Take 12 Lives In Ohio

L. L. Feagin, 53, of 789 North Main street, narrowly escaped death or serious injury Saturday night when his car was struck by a train at the West Longview avenue crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Feagin suffered a dislocated shoulder when his car was dragged 50 feet and hurled over a 30-foot embankment by a work train, police said.

Traffic and other accidents claimed 12 lives in Ohio over the week end, including six-year-old Bonnie Jean Baker who was killed Saturday afternoon near her home on Herring avenue in Roseland.

George Bicknell, 60, died Sunday, nine hours after he was found beaten at the bottom of a basement stairway in a Cincinnati tavern.

An unidentified middle-aged man died suddenly Sunday in Canton of injuries believed suffered in a fight. Police found a broken wine bottle near the body.

FALL 2 STORIES

Sherman Heskett, 82, a retired farmer, died Saturday at Cambridge after he fell from the second story of a home where he was visiting.

At Wooster, Christian Schaan, burned to death Sunday in a fire said to have been started by a pipe he was smoking in bed.

Traffic deaths included:

George Lapish, 73, of Genoa, O., killed when struck by a car.

Russell Sturgeon, 49, of Marion, killed when he backed his car onto a highway and into the path of a semi-trailer truck loaded with gin. Passersby helped themselves to much of the bottled liquor that was unbroken and strewn along the highway.

Effesio Picco, 69, Cleveland, struck and killed by automobile in Cleveland.

Philip Zimmerman, 58, and Paul Roberts, 34, both of Martins Ferry, killed in collision of their automobile with a truck on U. S. Route 40 between Lloydsville and Morristown.

Miss Julia De Fresne, 58, of Lima, killed when hit by car as she was crossing an intersection.

George Miranda, 17, killed when he walked in front of a passenger train at a crossing in Lancaster.

Carl Leroy Smith, 6, of Warren, was killed when struck by an automobile west of Warren.

Wins $2,500 As Damages

A common pleas court jury today returned a directed verdict for $2,500 in favor of Oliver Hoffman, of 421 Scholl road, against the Pennsylvania railroad and the Dominion Electric corporation, of Mansfield.

The jury was directed to render the verdict for the sum by Judge G. E. Kelbfleisch, after the plaintiff's case was presented to the court.

Hoffman had sued for $35,000, alleging the defendants were negligent when he was caught between the Dominion building and a Pennsylvania train on July 27, 1945, while making a delivery.

He claimed he had been injured permanently in the accident and has been unable to work. The railroad contended Hoffman was warned by the train conductor to move from the spot where he was standing. The electric company contended Hoffman's injuries were due to his own negligence.

Hoffman's attorneys were William F. Voegele and John O'Donnell while the Dominion company was represented by C. H. Henkel.

Gets 30-Day County Jail Sentence

Alfred Woodberry, of 302 East First street, was sentenced to the county jail for 30 days in juvenile court Saturday when found guilty of violation of probation.

He was charged with failure to pay hospital and doctor bills and make support payments for his child as ordered by the court in a paternity case.
